Willshaw And Owen To Battle In Fall

Bush Upsets O'Hara With 'Write-Ins'

A write - in candidate, William Bush of 435 Riverside Ave., Wellsville attorney, apparently defeated incumbent Delmar T. O'Hara Tuesday in the Republican primary election for city solicitor.

Unofficial returns from the city's 11 precincts gave O'Hara, whose name was listed on the ballot, 214 votes, while 244 wrote in Bush's name.

A recount looms in the contest. The 30-vote margin will be investigated, O'Hara supporters said, to determine the validity of the votes for Bush.

Bush, a former solicitor, was not considered a candidate until a letter was circulated among Wellsville Republicans Monday requesting write - in support and accusing O'Hara of "personal interest" in the post.

Yesterday, a movement started to have Democrats also write in Bush's name. A remarkable total of 408 votes was given Bush by Democrats, who felt the mandate would have allowed him to run as an Independent in the November election had O'Hara been successful in the primary. Later information disclosed that the maneuver was in vain, since votes cast for a candidate on a ticket other than the one with which he is affiliated are valid.

WILLIAM BUSH
Surprise Victor.

If the write-in totals stand, Bush will be Wellsville's first four year city solicitor under a new Ohio law, since there is no Democratic candidate for the position.

Breakdowns gave Bush 56 votes in the First Ward to O'Hara's 53; 75 in the Second Ward to O'Hara's 61; 40 to 33 in the Third Ward, and 73 to 67 in the Fourth Ward.

Ex-Mayor Write-In

It's Daugherty, Shoub Next Fall

Democratic incumbent William Daugherty and write-in Republican William J. Shoub, a former mayor, will contest at the Nov. 7 general election for mayor of Wellsville.

Shoub received more than 15 per cent of the Republican vote to assure himself a spot on the ballot. There was no GOP candidate listed on the ballot.

Daugherty, seeking his fourth term in office, won by a 2-1 margin over Lawrence Mick of 320 9th St., a land developer.

Democratic totals unofficially showed:

Daugherty	893
Mick	435

Shoub was one of three write-in candidates listed among the 515 GOP ballots cast. The other two names were those of Mick and Daugherty — invalid because both men are Democrats.

The unofficial Republican vote for mayor was:

Shoub	84
Daugherty	67
Mick	12

Daugherty first took office in 1962 and has won handily in every successive election.

Shoub, also a popular vote-getter, was mayor for eight years. He still has not announced if he will accept the nomination.

The 84 votes he received were seven more than needed to meet 15 per cent of the ballots cast.

The only other race for a city hall position was the Republican contest for city auditor. Incumbent Edgard Davidson, who sought a third four-year term, overwhelmed Jame E. Sumpter of 1122 Buckeye Ave., 457-37. Davidson will face newcomer Andrew Lynn, a Democrat, of 534 Broadway, who received 821 complimentary votes.

Allen C. Baldwin, a Crucible lab technician, ran unopposed on the Democratic ticket for re-election to the post of council president, receiving 963 votes. He will face Council Clerk Wayne Rose of Lincoln Ave., a Republican who was given 414 complimentary votes.

Republican Treasurer Thomas F. Grafton, an auto dealer, received 421 uncontested votes and will run against William Stroble of 714 Aten Ave., who got 758 complimentary votes.

Owen, who resides on Ohio Ave., served as safety - service director in the administration of former Mayor Bert H. Goodballet. In 1966, he served briefly as an interim county commissioner. He also has been elected as First Ward councilman and Council president.

School Levy Defeated At Wellsville

Obtains Majority, But Not 55 Pct. Required To Pass

Continued cutbacks face Wellsville city schools during the 1967-68 term as the result of Tuesday's defeat at the polls of a 5-mill levy to provide funds for operating expenses.

Unofficial returns showed a vote of 1,104 for the levy and 992 against. Although a majority, a 55 per cent affirmative vote was required to approve the issue in the off-year election.

Forty - nine more favorable votes would have meant approval.

Earlier this year, the Wellsville Board of Education was faced with the ultimatum of either cutting back activities to grant teacher raises or suffer under the burden of formal sanction by professional organizations such as the Ohio Education Association.

Cutbacks were made in the athletic program, publications, clubs and other extra-curricular activity.

Wellsville's levy was the only one in the county to fail.

Gathered at the City Hall election headquarters last night were Supt. Lowell Myers, teachers, drama directors, athletic coaches and students.

When asked if the board would seek a recount, Myers replied, "Where will we get the money for a recount?"

Recounts cost $10 per precinct. The Wellsville City School District includes the 11 city precincts and three suburban ones. The outlying electorate gave heavier support to the measure than city residents.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL students at Wellsville conducted a "protest" march this morning against the defeat of the school district's levy at Tuesday's primary election. Some 200 students failed to report to classes after a march was organized just prior to the beginning of classes. The junior and senior high enrollment is 860, with the majority of students reporting on time. Those who joined the march were being added to the absent rolls this morning. As one school official stated, "It's a little late to put on a demonstration now. If they wanted to do something, they should have done it before the election."

Bliss Strike Continues In Seventh Day

A clerk's strike which has halted production at E. W. Bliss Co. plants at Midland and South Side, Pittsburgh, was in its seventh day today after an effort to mediate issues failed.

Representatives of the clerks at the Mackintosh - Hemphill Division of Bliss at Midland and executives of Bliss were assembled for talks at Pittsburgh Tuesday afternoon.

However, no progress was made in the settlement of differences over salary-wage scales of the plant and office clerks, represented by USA-CIO Local 1269.

Rhodes' Pet 'OBC' Plan Beaten, 2-1

GOP Proposal To Redistrict Assembly Also Turned Down

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Republican governor whose popularity at the polls projected him onto the national political scene stood rebuffed today with his pet second-term project reduced to a shambles by voters.

They rejected in a special election Tuesday his proposed Ohio Bond Commission and also turned down a GOP plan to redistrict the legislature. The results came after an intensive four-month campaign by Gov. James A. Rhodes which started only 10 weeks after his re-election by a margin of more than 700,000 votes.

GOP spokesmen said privately the outcome could cast a shadow on Rhodes' position as a possible national darkhorse in 1968. They also saw major problems ahead in the legislature.

The bond commission, a plan by Rhodes for long-term planning and financing of capital improvements and highway projects, went down the drain big. Unofficial returns from the state's 12,792 polling places showed 1,021,058 votes against to only 509,826 in favor, almost exactly a 2-1 ratio.

Apportionment, a legal and judiciary headache in Ohio for more than two years, lost by a margin of 699,359 "yes" votes to 840,721 "no."

Democrats fought both plans bitterly on grounds they were designed, respectively, "to mor-

Mahoning Presbytery Votes To Continue In Camp Setup

Mahoning Presbytery voted Tuesday at Westminster Church, Boardman, to continue participation in the program at the Beaver Creek Camp, supplying campers and staff.

The arrangement is to continue until the proposed realignment of the presbytery's boundary is approved or 1970, whichever comes first, when the relationship will be reviewed.

Mahoning and Steubenville presbyteries have operated the camp together for several years. Mahoning is building, and has in operation, the Joseph Bader Meadows Camp in Trumbull County.

Mahoning's Christian Education Committee yesterday further recommended that the presbytery's share of the operational costs at Beaver Creek be reviewed each year and that it pay $3,500 toward Beaver Creek's 1967 budget of $26,430. Both recommendations were adopted. The Steubenville Presbytery will pay $5,000.

In other business, the presbytery:

Approved the Kingsville congregation's request for permission to borrow up to $20,000 to buy a manse.

Approved a request from East Palestine Trinity to sell a home recently acquired by the church.

Dissolved the pastoral relationship between the Rev. Reginald W. McInroy and the Vienna church and dismissed him to accept a call from Sayer church in Lackawanna Presbytery, Pa.

Approved the call issued by Youngstown John Calvin Church to the Rev. William Crumplen of North Carolina, southern Presbyterian Church.

Elected the Rev. Sven E. Anderson, associate pastor at Poland, as temporary clerk succeeding McInroy.

Forty - three churches submitted their session records for the annual examination, leaving 14 records to be examined at the next meeting June 13 at North Jackson.

No person may be elected president of the United States for more than two four - year terms.

Ohio Senate Tackles Pay Increases Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Election preoccupation ended, state senators tackled a major measure today to boost the pay of 45,000 state employes, a step already approved by the legislature's other chamber.

Representatives, meanwhile, look for action Thursday on emergency legislation aimed at ending racial discrimination in employment on public projects.

Both houses returned to work Tuesday night, a day later than usual, because of the election which saw the Republican administration and legislative majority suffer major setbacks with the defeat of their bond commission and legislative apportionment proposals.

The legislators watched the election results carefully during Tuesday night's session since the apportionment plan defeated by the voters basically was the one under which they were elected last November. They may be called upon to come up with a substitute for both measures for the November general election ballot.

The House approved 69-17 and sent to the Senate a revised version of Ohio's Coat of Arms and Great Seal now only vaguely described by statute.

Emotional Outbursts Break Up Martins Ferry Meeting

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP) — This Ohio River city's public school system serving more than 3,000 students entered its second week of shutdown today with fresh embitterment prevailing after emotional outbursts which broke up a board of education meeting.

An estimated 400 citizens turned out for the "routine" school board meeting Tuesday night and shouted down efforts on the board to conduct business.

"If my kid don't get in college this year, I'll be coming looking for someone," shouted one irate parent of a high school senior.

"Please, Dr. Holley, let us go back to school," pleaded a senior class girl asking the board to lift its contempt of court action against 88 boycotting teachers and three Ohio Education Association officials.

Most of the crowd urged Dr. E. A. Holley, acting president of the board, and his colleagues to accede to Classroom Teachers Association demands which touched off, and have perpetuated, the walkout.

Citizens were permitted to voice their complaints during the first part of the board meeting, but when the board then moved to regular business repeated "harassment" led Holley to adjourn the session.

One citizen speaker, Kelly Mikel was suddenly stricken amid shouted threats directed at Holley and board member James McCleery. Mikel was hospitalized.

Mikel had questioned the board's disbursement of tax money to hire the services of special legal counsel in the dispute with the Classroom Teachers Association.

The special counsel, attorney Thomas Jones, prompted Holley on the legal points during response, at which the gallery became unruly. Some yelled to "get him out of there!" -- meaning Jones -- "and let the board speak for itself."

Allen Martin, CTA president, reiterated the association's four demands in a speech to the board--recognition for the teacher organization, cooperative development of professional negotiations, a guarantee against punitive action, and dropping of the contempt suit based on an injunction the board obtained last year.

The board, which met with no intention of dealing with the teacher situation, never took it up.

Girl Injured Against Auto

A 4-year - old Wellsville area child was injured when she ran into the rear of a moving car near her home Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

Tammy Sue Byers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Byers of Echo Dr., Wellsville R. D. 1, suffered multiple contusions of the chin, left fingers and left upper arm when she ran into the side of a car operated by Mrs. Anne Aline Choma, 47, of Lisbon R. D. 2.

The Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Mrs. Choma was driving north when the child ran across the road into the right rear of the vehicle.

Post Office Parking Area Gets Attention

NEW CUMBERLAND — Council reviewed proposals from the U.S. Post Office Department on ways to provide increased parking facilities at the village post office during a meeting Tuesday night. Mrs. John P. Jones, mayor, presided.

The Post Office Department notified city officials that two additional parking spaces can be provided by relocating the flagpole in front of the building and by eliminating the sidewalk which separates the parking area from the public street. This would make a total of five spaces available.

Council will visit the site to investigate the plan's feasibility.

Mayor Jones reported she has been notified by the Hancock County Community Action Council that several youths have been assigned to work on city projects in New Cumberland as part of the Neighborhood Youth Corps program. Youths will report for work Monday morning.

A. T. Knabb of the Hancock County Health Department reported the sewage facilities in New Cumberland for April are in satisfactory condition. He has begun monthly inspections of all sewage treatment plants in the county in order to file reports on their operation and facilities with the government.

The only other Wellsville race was on the Democrat slate for Third Ward Council as incumbent Nunzio S. Lombardozzi, a Crucible Steel Co. foreman, defeated Fred Leughmoyer of 601 15th St., 172 to 75.

There was no Republican candidate for Third Ward councilman.

In the First Ward, Frank J. Rossi, a tailor, received 82 complimentary Republican votes, while incumbent Democrat Russell Keefer was given 200.

Second Ward Councilman Glenn Mathess, a Crucible worker, earned nomination for re-election after receiving 129 complimentary votes on the GOP ballot. He will face James A. Saracco, of 609 Buckeye Ave., Democrat, a Titanium Metals Co. worker, who received 171 votes.

Brad Phillips, Republican Fourth Ward councilman, received 130 complimentary votes and will run against Walter E. Henthorne, of 1712 Clark Ave., a Democrat who polled 282 votes yesterday.

There were 515 Republicans voting in the election and 1,355 Democrats. The very heavy turnout was attributed to high-pitched interest over the defeated school levy and write - in candidates.

Job Boom In June

Another important phase in the education cycle is near. It is commencement time.

High school seniors will be donning caps and gowns across the nation to join the ranks of former students. Many will go on to colleges, universities, business schools, junior colleges, or technical institutes.

Others will be dumped into the labor market to compete with the unemployed.

To make room for those seeking higher education, America's colleges and universities will graduate some 570,000 bachelors and first degree candidates. Another 132,800 young men and women will receive masters' degrees, or the equivalent. Some 18,800 will earn doctorates.

A great many of the bright young baccalaureates will be going on to postgraduate work. Others will volunteer for Peace Corps projects or other idealistic pursuits.

The remainder will have an unparalleled opportunity to pick jobs.

Recruiters from business and industry are swarming around campuses like ants over an anthill.

The opportunity for a good job are better than ever before. Many companies could not fill 1966 hiring quotas that were up 40 to 45 per cent from 1965.

The law of supply and demand gives students the advantage of being able to pick the right job at a salary that must be competitive.

The Wall Street Journal reports a 22-year-old chemical engineer who will get his master's degree from Cornell University in June expects a starting salary of $900 a month and interesting work.

The College Placement Bureau, Inc., a nonprofit group, reports offers to seniors who will graduate in June with technical degrees are averaging $713 a month, up 6.3 per cent from last year. Graduates with nontechnical degrees are being offered $611 a month to start, up 7.2 per cent from last year.

The plain figures on job prospects make a pretty good case for continuation of education above the high school level. It's money in the bank.

'Gov.' Jim

Jim Crawford is a personable and capable youth; obviously, since he was chosen "governor" of the YMCA model legislature last week at Columbus, and will represent Ohio at the national "governors" conference at Washington in June.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Kim Crawford of Rogers, the Beaver Local High School senior shows a talent, flair for public attention and knowledgability about government which should stand him in good stead in college and whatever career beyond.

With area high school seniors approaching that time of the year for selecting "the most likely to--", we suggest that Jim be among those nominated to succeed — indeed, he has already cut himself a sizeable slice of success.

Retelling An Old Story

American Hospital Association is saying its members are dissatisfied with payments under medicare contracts.

The members are complaining the payments are so low they do not cover costs and at best allow hospitals only to break even. There is no surplus for expansion costs, maintenance, overhead and equipment purchases.

The association points out that Blue Cross and other hospital payment plans covering non-medicare patients allow a surplus of respectable proportions. With medicare patients accounting for as much of the hospital census as 40 per cent, medicare payments are forcing some hospitals to make up losses on medicare patients out of heavier charges to non-medicare patients.

This is an old story.

Long before prepaid hospitalization, it was taken for granted that the well-to-do would pick up the tab for all the rest of us.

In the early days before Blue Cross rates began their endless climb, some hospitals tried to make up the deficit with special charges for non-Blue Cross patients.

The problem is going to be to adjust medicare contracts to the realities of hospital costs. It will not be a pleasant task for either the Social Security Administration or the American Hospital Association.

When the association says its members will back out of medicare contracts unless they are made more remunerative, that, too, is an old story. Hospitals jumped at a chance to stabilize their income under Blue Cross and will jump even farther to stabilize it under medicare.

Adjustments will be made, of course. Aren't they always?

The Big Bomb

By Truman Twill

If you are old enough to remember the voice of the late Edward R. Murrow describing the German blitz of London, you are old enough to wonder about the American blitz of Hanoi.

All things considered, it is better if you are not old enough to remember this or anything else if you and your friends are edgy about Vietnam.

Hermann Goering's persistent blitzers knocked London to pieces. You can still see the ruins today in some places. The legend is that the Germans had to give up only because the doughty Britons shot down so many Nazi aircraft that Fats Goering couldn't keep paying the price.

But there also is a legend about the stubborn refusal of the victims of the bombing to knuckle under to the fat man's grand strategy of bombing them into submission. The victims had a spokesman whose bulldog mien and tenacity fairly represented the way they felt about their arrogant enemy.

Not all the victims of Big Bombing are Britons. They don't always have a Winston Churchill to summon their courage and keep them from panicking.

The question is whether they have one in Hanoi.

If not, the American bombing may be as successful there as it was in Hamburg, or as the German bombing was in Rotterdam in World War II.

But if they do, the American bombing may be no more successful than it was in Tokyo, or the German bombing was in Coventry.

It all depends on whether the victims of the terror feel they have everything to gain and nothing to lose by hanging on. The only bombing that can be guaranteed definitive is the Biggest Bomb — the nuclear holocaust that obliterates the will to resist by obliterating the entire population in one earth-searing blast.

The Biggest Bomb is at the end of the line the United States is following. It is readily apparent now that the fateful decision to hold it in abeyance or drop it is now being made by the man in the White House.

Eventually, if Hanoi continues to stand as a symbol of resistance to the escalating U.S. war effort in Vietnam, President Johnson's chiefs of staff will urge him to finish what he has started.

The United States will obliterate Hanoi. Or the United States will convince Hanoi that it must knuckle under or suffer the fate of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Those of us who care were privileged to hear a wonderful "Evening of Music" April 24 presented by the East Liverpool High School Concert Band and Orchestra under the capable direction of Donald Adams and Judith Fisk.

Many hours of practice and dedication were evident in the professional performance of these musicians. Only a meager handful of people attended the program. In many cases, parents of band members did not attend, and only a few high school students lent their support. If your family and friends don't care, who does?

Is this apathy one symptom of the problems in our school system?

In our culturally-deprived community, it seems that if the event is not athletic in nature, it is not worth bothering about.

Why not try tearing yourself away from reruns of "Time Tunnel" or "The Lake" for a short time and listen in on the Choral Concert scheduled Friday night. I'm certain it will be well worth your time.

New Probe May Get Results

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — Some labor leaders are trying to come in out of the cold. But it's too late. Grand juries right across the land have been hearing them in secret. It's like old times on the waterfront, in the construction field, on the pipe lines, and even in the Mafia.

Victor Riesel

Special agencies are ready to put the show on the road. It will all come up very sexy, lucrative and noisy in the next 60 days and there will be enough Cosa Nostra color in some of the exposes to redden the faces of national labor leaders — who have lost control of their satellites because they just have not bothered tracking or policing them.

At the moment waiting for calls to a string of witness stands are officials of the Operating Engineers in Northern New Jersey, some leaders of eastern Longshoremen, Rolls Royce-riding Laborers and some old friends of Jimmy Hoffa — just to mention a few.

This is reported here with due care for the new reportage and sensitive concern for the rights of those who care little for the rights of those who have chosen them to lead in the great idealism. But it does not prejudice anyone's right to a fair trial or bias a yet-to-be selected jury to state that in some instances huge sums of money are involved as well as charges of using "the squeeze" in most brutal fashions.

THERE IS the case of convicted extortioner Johnny Dio, whose influence it is hoped will now dimishish in some Teamsters circles. He will be brought to trial early in May in New York's Federal Court by the relentless crusading U.S. Attorney, Robert Morgenthau.

The charges against Dio are worth noting by every small businessman. He is accused of bankrupting a meat company in the fashion of the Cosa Nostra — wherein he is a member of the Luchese group according to Joe Valachi. Dio is accused of taking over a business and defrauding the creditors. His sales techniques were also something to behold — if you did not get in his way.

But this is just one of many upcoming trials of muscle men who dart in and out of labor.

Asst. Attorney General Fred Vinson tells me that there are grand jury actions in Newark, Chicago, Kansas City, Cleveland and several sections of New York State.

Grimly, it is little enough. This — added to the investigations and public hearings of other agencies — will at least show the ever-present pattern of Mafia infiltration into labor and small business.

Actually, the task is awesome. Mr. Vinson's special units, for example, discovered 70 major hoodlums in just one city. These are "Dons," not troops. At the moment the best the Justice Dept.'s Organized Crime and Racketeering section can do is to coordinate the surveillance of 3100 major crime syndicate chiefs.

OBVIOUSLY the so-called fight on crime makes no sense when insiders report that there are thousands of others who go about their multimillion dollar terror business unwatched and unmolested.

New England, for example is virutually virgin territory for the federal government. There, one of the Mafia's national commissions, operating out of Providence, reaches into labor all the way from Connecticut to the jobs' happy dumping grounds in Boston.

Over in Chicago, the entire federal law enforcement unit was stripped down almost to paralysis. Luckily the syndicate there is in its own proxy fight. Some of the hoods are trying to unseat Sam (Momo) Giancana.

He is resting from a year in jail — but not in Chicago — in Mexico.

OUR GOVERNMENT, officially so agitated by this crime thing, simply imposed a job freeze. Chicago's federal unit de-escalated to about four men. The special labor unit of the Organized Crime section has exactly six men. Yet hundreds of lawyers are in the federal catacombs in other divisions, shuffling papers and catching their car pool drive home — but nothing else.

If it were not for some dedicated U.S. attorneys and mobile units made up of FBI and Labor Dept. Teams there would be no action at all.

Why?

What use are the permanent anti-crime units in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Newark and Miami, if they don't have the manpower to turn rumor into fact and fact into indictments and convictions?

One government official, knocking off about 10 p.m. the other night mused wearily that "we could use 300 more men for the next 50 years and then we'll make a dent. This is heartache alley."

But it is not all futile as we soon shall see.

Action-Politician

WASHINGTON

The 71-year-old senator with the unkempt hair and a doomsday voice that makes Dr. Martin Luther King sound like a jolly comedian wanted to be an actor and went into politics. He has done very well at both.

He doesn't just make fun. He draws pictures, like the time he went after the anti-poverty program of his friend and former social companion, President Johnson.

The senator, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate's Republican leader, said he had heard 700 young men wanted to be trained under the anti-poverty program to operate a diaper service.

"That's really getting to the bottom of things," he said. "I'm tempted to say it's time for a change."

HE WENT ON Red Skelton's CBS television show to plug his best-selling record album, "Gallant Men," and got into a prearranged argument with Skelton on why a chicken crossed the road.

Dirksen insisted on knowing whether it was a free enterprise chicken or a government-supported chicken.

He has banged and pecked and sometimes ruined a Johnson program — as he did the administration's civil rights bill in 1966 — but he has given Johnson 100 per cent support on the war in Vietnam, or practically 100 per cent.

Twice, he left a sick bed in the Walter Reed Army Hospital to fight for Johnson. He did it last March, when his support was crucial, to back the President just before the final vote on the consular treaty which Johnson wanted.

The Senate approved. He did it again this week when, not fully recovered from pneumonia, he barged into a meeting of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee, which seemed ready to tee off on Johnson's conduct of the war.

When he got through, most of the Republican senators meekly agreed on giving the President "wholehearted support." Dirksen has attacked war protesters and ridiculed the draft-card burners as a bunch of publicity seekers.

He has a simple rule — "Never pound the desk too hard, you may hurt yourself" — which freely translated seems to mean "Don't take yourself too seriously."

Once he stared at a new bust of himself in his office. The bust stared back. "Superb," Dirksen said. The bust said nothing.

He has blamed the administration for the rising cost of corn flakes. He presented a live turkey to the White House with the prediction the ax would fall on Johnson's spending.

LAST YEAR he led a successful combination of Republicans and Southern Democrats in killing a proposal both Johnson and organized labor wanted. It would have stopped states from barring the union shop.

He tried but failed to get the Senate to approve a constitutional amendment which, if ever adopted, would have undone the Supreme Court's ban on certain prayers in public schools.

But every time there has been an international crisis Dirksen has been on hand to announce you can't let a president down when there is a war on.

Last year he even tangled with the Republican leader of the House, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, who charged there has been "shocking mismanagement" of some aspects of the war.

"Who are the shockers?" Dirksen asked.

And this year when Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., a frequent thorn to Johnson, proposed suspension of the bombing in Vietnam, Dirksen was in there pitching for Johnson, who wouldn't suspend the bombing.

Johnson couldn't have a better helper, at least on the war.

Patriotism

By David Lawrence

Westmoreland Speech Hailed

An emotional hour seldom paralleled in American history was experienced at the Capitol last Friday as Gen. William Westmoreland addressed a joint session of the House and Senate.

Repercussions will be felt throughout the world, particularly in Southeast Asia.

The congress of the United States saw a vision of its fighting men in Vietnam — more than 400,000 -- and gave them whole-hearted encouragement and unqualified support.

It wasn't just the commanding general of our armed forces in Vietnam whom the Congress applauded 26 times but the spirit of the men behind him as well.

Almost at the very outset, cheers came as Gen. Westmoreland, referring to the military men who have preceded him in addressing Congress, said "none of them could have had more pride than is mine in representing the gallant men fighting in Vietnam today."

Instantly came another outburst of approval as the general declared:

"The Republic of Vietnam is fighting to build a strong nation while aggression — organized, directed and supported from without — attempts to engulf it. This is an unprecedented challenge for a small nation. But it is a challenge which will confront any nation that is marked as a target for the Communist stratagem called 'war of national liberation.' I can assure you, here and now, that militarily this strategy will not succeed in Vietnam."

Gen. Westmoreland spoke of the brutality of Communist terrorists as they wound or kill unarmed civilians in small communities. He plaintively remarked:

"One hears little of this brutality here at home. What we do hear about is our own aerial bombing against North Vietnam."

The general thereupon narrated the manner in which Communist forces for years have been bombing bridges, interrupting traffic, sabotaging power stations and attacking airfields in the South and pointed out that this is precisely the kind of bombing now being done by American forces in retaliation. He added:

"To us, a cease-fire means cease fire. Our observance of past truces has been open and subject to public scrutiny. The enemy permits no such observation — in the north or in the south. He traditionally has exploited cease-fire periods, when the bombing has been suspended, to increase his resupply and infiltration activity.

"This is the enemy — this has been the challenge. The only strategy which can defeat such an organization is one of unrelenting but discriminating military, political and psychological pressure on his whole structure — and at all levels."

The cries of approval and spontaneous handclapping by the audience — which included the representatives of nearly 100 embassies and legations — were like a "shot heard around the world."

It told the allied forces in faraway Vietnam that despite all captious criticisms and comments of exhibitionists in our midst, the Congress wants the fighting men to know that the support behind them in our government is unequivocal.

Gen. Westmoreland said it has been evident that the enemy believes America to be irresolute and wavering.

He then added:

"Your continued strong support is vital to the success of our mission."

The applause that ensued was stronger than for any previous part of the address. But the ovation was thunderous when the general concluded with this declaration:

"Backed at home by resolve, confidence, determination and continued support, we will prevail in Vietnam over the Communist aggressor."

As Gen. Westmoreland stood in final salute and then walked out through the center aisle, the members of the House and Senate rose and cheered. The Congress as a whole, by its applause, had told the troops in Vietnam that the sacrifices being made will not be forgotten by an understanding nation.

Many of us in the press gallery who witnessed this demonstration and who have listened to other addresses in times of crisis felt again last Friday the thrill of an undying patriotism in America.

He tried but failed to get the Senate to approve a constitutional amendment which, if ever adopted, would have undone the Supreme Court's ban on certain prayers in public schools.

But every time there has been an international crisis Dirksen has been on hand to announce you can't let a president down when there is a war on.

Last year he even tangled with the Republican leader of the House, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, who charged there has been "shocking mismanagement" of some aspects of the war.

"Who are the shockers?" Dirksen asked.

And this year when Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., a frequent thorn to Johnson, proposed suspension of the bombing in Vietnam, Dirksen was in there pitching for Johnson, who wouldn't suspend the bombing.

Johnson couldn't have a better helper, at least on the war.

Patriotism

By David Lawrence

Westmoreland Speech Hailed

An emotional hour seldom paralleled in American history was experienced at the Capitol last Friday as Gen. William Westmoreland addressed a joint session of the House and Senate.

Repercussions will be felt throughout the world, particularly in Southeast Asia.

The congress of the United States saw a vision of its fighting men in Vietnam — more than 400,000 -- and gave them whole-hearted encouragement and unqualified support.

It wasn't just the commanding general of our armed forces in Vietnam whom the Congress applauded 26 times but the spirit of the men behind him as well.

Almost at the very outset, cheers came as Gen. Westmoreland, referring to the military men who have preceded him in addressing Congress, said "none of them could have had more pride than is mine in representing the gallant men fighting in Vietnam today."

Instantly came another outburst of approval as the general declared:

"The Republic of Vietnam is fighting to build a strong nation while aggression — organized, directed and supported from without — attempts to engulf it. This is an unprecedented challenge for a small nation. But it is a challenge which will confront any nation that is marked as a target for the Communist stratagem called 'war of national liberation.' I can assure you, here and now, that militarily this strategy will not succeed in Vietnam."

Gen. Westmoreland spoke of the brutality of Communist terrorists as they wound or kill unarmed civilians in small communities. He plaintively remarked:

"One hears little of this brutality here at home. What we do hear about is our own aerial bombing against North Vietnam."

The general thereupon narrated the manner in which Communist forces for years have been bombing bridges, interrupting traffic, sabotaging power stations and attacking airfields in the South and pointed out that this is precisely the kind of bombing now being done by American forces in retaliation. He added:

"To us, a cease-fire means cease fire. Our observance of past truces has been open and subject to public scrutiny. The enemy permits no such observation — in the north or in the south. He traditionally has exploited cease-fire periods, when the bombing has been suspended, to increase his resupply and infiltration activity.

"This is the enemy — this has been the challenge. The only strategy which can defeat such an organization is one of unrelenting but discriminating military, political and psychological pressure on his whole structure — and at all levels."

The cries of approval and spontaneous handclapping by the audience — which included the representatives of nearly 100 embassies and legations — were like a "shot heard around the world."

It told the allied forces in faraway Vietnam that despite all captious criticisms and comments of exhibitionists in our midst, the Congress wants the fighting men to know that the support behind them in our government is unequivocal.

Gen. Westmoreland said it has been evident that the enemy believes America to be irresolute and wavering.

He then added:

"Your continued strong support is vital to the success of our mission."

The applause that ensued was stronger than for any previous part of the address. But the ovation was thunderous when the general concluded with this declaration:

"Backed at home by resolve, confidence, determination and continued support, we will prevail in Vietnam over the Communist aggressor."

As Gen. Westmoreland stood in final salute and then walked out through the center aisle, the members of the House and Senate rose and cheered. The Congress as a whole, by its applause, had told the troops in Vietnam that the sacrifices being made will not be forgotten by an understanding nation.

Many of us in the press gallery who witnessed this demonstration and who have listened to other addresses in times of crisis felt again last Friday the thrill of an undying patriotism in America.

strike last Thursday morning in protest over company provisions for pay, claiming the scale should be based on the basic steel pattern.

Company officials maintain the firm is a rolled products concern, not in the basic steel pattern.

Some 600 hourly workers of the firm have been observing the picket lines, and production has been halted at the two facilities.

Art Wellman, federal mediator, was unable to affect any agreement between the two groups yesterday.

Raymond Crawford, manager of personnel and industrial relations at Pittsburgh headquarters of Bliss, said today, "We are reviewing what steps can be taken to get the hourly workers back on the job."

He said I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers, and Kay Kluz, District 20 director, have been asked by telegram to assist in settling the issues, but no answer has been received.

Television Cable System Detailed For Lisbon Club

LISBON — Paul E. Myers, president of Village Cablevision at 236 E. Washington St., spoke at the Rotary Club's dinner meeting Tuesday in the Wick Hotel.

He has a contract with Columbiana CATV to install and manage the firm's Lisbon community television system. Myers said work has started on the concrete base for a 100-foot receiving tower on the Harris farm along Old Steubenville Rd. south of town.

He said the TV cable will be strung along Ohio Bell Telephone and Ohio Edison Co. poles as soon as the utilities provide the necessary 40-inch clearance between the cable and their lines. He showed Rotarians the three sizes of cable to be used—one from the tower and along poles through Lisbon, a smaller size for lead-in to houses and a tiny one to connect into the set.

Myers said the system will provide nine channels to begin with and three more will be added later to give a full dial.

Cal Carney, program chairman introduced Myers.

The club welcomed James Smith as a new member. Jack Pozenel, president, said Salem Rotarians have invited the Lisbon club to its annual golf day and dinner at 6:15 p. m. May 11 at Salem Golf Club. Charles McKenzie, Richard Kennedy and Don Loch will represent Lisbon on the links.

tgage the state with ridiculous promises," and to "perpetuate Republicans in the legislature" by creating GOP - oriented districts.

Rhodes, who toured the state by bus and plane and made numerous radio and television appearances to promote the issues, didn't appear Tuesday night at state election headquarters. But he said in a statement handed out by his top aide, John M. McElroy, that "the people of Ohio have spoken."

Rhodes added that he will "take heed and give my promises that I shall fulfill their direction. I shall continue with every ounce of my energies and enthusiasm toward making Ohio the greatest state in the Union."

The governor's bond commission proposal called for a five-member commission which could issue bonds for capital improvements and highways – without voter approval but with legislative restrictions. His campaign held promise of numerous improvements in education, parks and recreation, highways, mental institutions, and in numerous other fields.

This was where Democrats, against overwhelming GOP margins in the legislature, accused the administration of an "unprecedented power grab" and asserted it sought control of the state for years to come "with irresponsible billion - dollar promises." Some Democrats however, including U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, had supported the plan.

Democratic organization "victory" statements Tuesday night echoed their campaign theme.

State Democratic Chairman Morton Neipp of Toledo cited "developments of the past several days" in which he said "conservative Republicans were voicing doubts as to what appeared to be a proposal for reckless spending."

Ohio House Minority Leader Frank Pokorny of Cleveland and Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King said in a joint statement that the Democratic party "never denied" the need for construction of additional facilities for mental health, higher education, water pollution facilities "and the like."

But they added: "At the same time we are fully cognizant of the state's responsibility in such areas of day-to-day operations as primary and secondary education, mental health, welfare and highway safety but to mention a few."

Pokorny and King said they wanted to "assert our willingness and desire to cooperate with the administration in developing those programs in a discally responsible manner." They noted that the legislature now must face capital improvement and highway problems which would have been handled by the bond commission.

Democrats and Republicans were at a loss to say immediately what might happen on either issue and GOP leaders said the lawmakers may take a "breather" before deciding.

Ohio elected its present legislature under a plan approved by a federal court on a temporary basis only after voters rejected a GOP proposal submitted in the May 1965 election.

What happens could well depend on a suit by King already pending in the Ohio Supreme Court. It contends that the plan under which the present legislature was elected was illegally drawn because the all-Republican Apportionment Board — acting after voter defeat of the 1965 plan — lacked authority. King's suit maintains the board may act only after the federal census every 10 years and not in the middle of the 10-year period. His case was upheld last year in Ohio's 10th District Court of Appeals.

Court spokesmen said earlier that King's suit would have been a "moot question" in the face of a favorable decision by voters Tuesday. But since the decision was not favorable, the question raised by King "now reoccurs as being before the fact of what happened Tuesday," the spokemen said.

If King's suit is upheld, the legislature would be faced with devising a plan to submit to the voters in November, it was explained. Legislative candidates must file by early next February.

So overwhelming and complete was the rejection of the bond commission proposal that it was evident in early returns from rural Republican counties where both issues were expected to carry handily. First reports from metropolitan counties confirmed the trend and from then on, it was simply a matter of counting.

Only three of the state's 88 counties — Guernsey, Gallia and Scioto — supported the commission proposal. A dozen supported apportionment — Guernsey by two votes, unofficially.

Other counties suporting apportionment were Cuyahoga and Franklin — the only metropolitan counties in the group —along with Gallia, Geauga, Longa, Madison, Medina, Morgan, Union and Delaware.

W. Va. Salaried SRC Workers Get Pay Hike

CHARLESTON (AP) — The State Board of Public Works has approved an average wage boost of 5 per cent for salaried West Virginia State Road Commission workers effective from May 1.

The pay hike had been scheduled to become effective July 1 but Commissioner Burl Sawyers said the earlier increase date was necessary due to the difficulty in securing qualified personnel.

Several hundred employes will receive increases, but an SRC spokesman said the exact number is not known.

Blanche M. Neill and Robert Kelm, both Republicans.

Clyde Pike, now president of Council, won the GOP mayoralty nomination without opposition, receiving 447 complimentary votes. Mayor Dean Stockman, a Republican now in his fourth term, did not run again. The total vote was 515.

A. Monty Muntean, Democratic candidate for mayor, was his party's only candidate. Lisbon had no Democratic primary under the "no contest" law.

Lisbon Republicans nominated four other candidates without opposition.

John A. Ebert was given 474 votes for renomination as clerk-treasurer. He is a bank teller.

Alfred J. Smith received 461 complimentary votes for renomination for a two-year term on the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs. James E. Crowell was given 425 and Clyde M. Wilson received 436 for renomination for four-year terms on the same board. Smith, Crowell and Wilson all are incumbents.

Trash Cans Replaced As Painting's Finished

Boasting new coats of white paint, 35 trash cans were returned to their accustomed places on sidewalks in the central business area this morning.

The containers, formerly dark blue, were repainted as a project of the East Liverpool Merchants Association in connection with the annual citywide spring cleanup drive.

Incinerator and street department trucks picked up the cans about a week ago and hauled them to the incinerator department garage on E. 2nd St., where the paint was applied. The same crews returned the receptacles to their sidewalk spots this morning.

Rybka led his two rivals in the mayorality fight by wide margins, receiving 4,890 votes to Altomare's 3,570 and councilman Michael Rodak's 3,089.

W. Va. Salaried SRC Workers Get Pay Hike

CHARLESTON (AP) — The State Board of Public Works has approved an average wage boost of 5 per cent for salaried West Virginia State Road Commission workers effective from May 1.

The pay hike had been scheduled to become effective July 1 but Commissioner Burl Sawyers said the earlier increase date was necessary due to the difficulty in securing qualified personnel.

Several hundred employes will receive increases, but an SRC spokesman said the exact number is not known.

Trash Cans Replaced As Painting's Finished

Boasting new coats of white paint, 35 trash cans were returned to their accustomed places on sidewalks in the central business area this morning.

The containers, formerly dark blue, were repainted as a project of the East Liverpool Merchants Association in connection with the annual citywide spring cleanup drive.

Incinerator and street department trucks picked up the cans about a week ago and hauled them to the incinerator department garage on E. 2nd St., where the paint was applied. The same crews returned the receptacles to their sidewalk spots this morning.

In Tuesday's Vote Turnout

200 Drop In Prediction Linked To Weather Here

The weatherman apparently had a hand in East Liverpool's primary elections Tuesday.

Thanks to intermittent showers that sometimes reached the proportions of a downpour, he got credit for keeping at least 200 voters at home.

The total vote in the city's 34 precincts was 3,550, or 200 under the 3,750 predicted in pre-election forecasts.

The morning turnout was especially slow, running about 16 per cent behind the polling at the time four years ago, but the tempo picked up in late afternoon.

THE COUNTY Election Board's complete, unofficial totals showed that 1,778 Democrats and 1,772 Republicans went to the polls here yesterday.

The overall Columbiana County vote was 15,386, about average for an off-year election.

The tabulation of the returns were completed swiftly and without incident last night at the board's office on W. 6th St.

The traditional "flash count" on the results of the two East Liverpool mayoralty races was finished about 7:30 — an hour after the balloting ended. Precinct staffs counted the mayoralty returns first and then telephoned the totals direct to the Election Board.

First precinct to report was 3-I, in the Beechwood section. It telephoned its figures at 6:38 just eight minutes after the polls closed. The last to report in the "flash count" was 1-D, which votes at Horace Mann School. The 1-D figures were phoned about 7:30.

THE STAFF completed work at 8:40 p. m. on tabulation of returns from all 168 county precincts on the two proposed amendments to the Ohio Constitution, known as Issue No. 1 and Issue No. 2.

East Liverpool's returns, tabulated precinct-by-precinct in contrast to the grand totals supplied from other communities, were entered on charts and totaled at 9:40.

Miss Rebecca Resnick, director of elections, complimented all the precinct workers and the clerical help at the board's office for their help in compiling the returns speedily.

"All the machinery worked without a hitch," she said. "Everyone who had a part in compiling and reporting the returns deserves a vote of thanks from the Election Board."

The board will meet Thursday morning at its East Liverpool office to begin the official canvass of the returns. The figures compiled last night are complete, but unofficial.

The official canvass, a meticulous recheck on all the figures, provides the data that is certified to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown at Columbus.

Voters Strike At Tax Increases

Ohio Schools Hard Hit Generally On Bond Issues

By AL GOLDBERG
Associated Press Writer

Schools generally were hardest hit as negative-minded Ohio voters rejected a majority of local money issues in Tuesday's election, striking particularly hard at those that would increase taxes.

Somewhat of an exception was the Cleveland area, where, except for defeat of a one-mill levy to provide $30 million for the new Cuyahoga Community College, voters generally were lenient with the purse strings.

Winning issues included Cleveland's one-half of one per cent city income tax which became effective Jan. 1 but was challenged by a Cleveland Charter Committee. Many observers saw the vote to keep the tax as possibly Mayor Ralph Locher's greatest political victory.

While the Cuyahoga Community College levy was rejected, Lake County voters approved a 1.7-mill levy for the proposed $4 million Lakeland Community College. The levy will provide $2.3 million for five years and its approval means the college, due to open next fall, will qualify for $2.2 million in aid from the Ohio Board of Regents.

Two typical examples of voter sentiment when it came to school issues were in Oregon, near Toledo, and Perry, near Lima, where large tax renewals were approved but additions were turned down.

In the Licking Valley school district of Licking County, the 81 school teachers declared a day off for "professional study" Wednesday in protest of a levy defeated, affecting a high school and four grade schools. The 3-mill tax was intended to provide them with salary increases.

In a major local primary battle, Columbus' Democratic Mayor M. E. Sensenbenner ran up better than a 2-to - 1 margin over two Republican oppoenents in the city's nonpartisan election to win a spot on the November ballot. He'll face the GOP-endorsed candidate, Jerry Spears Jr., a funeral director and former city councilman, for re - election.

Youngstown Mayor Anthony B. Flask easily defeated two opponents in winning the Democratic nomination in a bid for re-election.

Lorain voters defeated the city's request for renewal of a 3-mill levy by nearly 2-to-1 while voters in neighboring Elyria approved renewal of a 2-mill operating levy by better than 2-to-1. Washington Court House voters rejected a new 2 - mill levy overwhelmingly.

Major school setbacks came in Youngstown where a 7.5 - mill operating levy was soundly rejected; Northwood, near Toledo, where a 9.8 - mill levy--some new, some renewal--was beaten; Lorain where an additional 9-mill operating levy was turned down, and Athens, where a new 5-mill levy was beaten. Some of the proceeds would have been used for operating the state's first non-graded high school scheduled to open near Athens in the fall.

A joint vocational school for all of Allen County and parts of Hancock, Auglaize, Van Wert, Putnam and Hardin counties was rejected through defeat of a $1.5 million bond issue for construction and a .9 mill levy for operating expenses.

A 4.25-mill issue to build a $1.4 million high school in the Berlin-Milan school district near Norwalk was beaten.

In Bluffton, Republicans got shut out on a mayoral candidate. When they missed the deadline for filing, the party set up a write-in campaign. But only 11 of 261 Republicans who voted wrote in names, and no one got more than two votes.

County Slaps 'No' On Both State Issues

Columbiana County joined the rest of Ohio Tuesday in rejecting two proposed amendments to the State Constitution.

The county gave the soundest trouncing to Issue No. 1, which called for establishment of an Ohio Bond Commission. Voters in the 168 precincts rejected it by a margin of 3,350 votes.

The complete, unofficial returns showed:

For The Issue	5,358
Against Issue	8,708

Issue No. 2, which would have affirmed the present apportionment system for election of members of the General Assembly, lost by a 1,367-vote margin in the countywide vote.

The totals showed:

For The Issue	6,621
Against Issue	7,988

East Liverpool's 34 precincts showed 1,125 votes in favor of Issue No. 1, with 2,015 opposed. Issue No. 2 received 1,426 favorable votes in East Liverpool, with 1,910 in opposition.

The Salem area's 28 precincts showed 920 votes for Issue No. 1, with 1,001 opposed. The same area cast 1,138 in favor of Issue No. 2, with 804 against.

Wellsville's 17 precincts showed 697 votes in favor of Issue No. 1, with 1,268 against. Wellsville cast 803 in favor of Issue No. 2, with 1,319 against.

The Lisbon area's 13 precincts showed 444 votes in favor of Issue No. 1, with 716 opposed. Lisbon cast 580 in favor of Issue No. 2, with 617 against.

Salineville's seven area precincts showed 106 in favor of Issue No. 1, with 232 against. It cast 137 in favor of Issue No. 2, but 220 against. The East Palestine area's 14 precincts registered 545 in favor of Issue No. 1 and 815 against. It gave 661 in favor of Issue No. 2 and 759 against.

The Columbiana area's 12 precincts cast 467 in favor of Issue No. 1 and 557 against. It showed 562 for Issue No. 2, with 473 against. The Leetonia area's 9 precincts cast 297 in favor of Issue No. 1 and 584 against. It showed 370 in favor of Issue No. 2 and 523 against.

Red Cross Plans Club For Wives Of Men In Viet

Organization of a club for wives of servicemen in Vietnam is planned by the Area Red Cross Chapter's Service to Military Families Committee.

Charles Lang, chairman of the committee which met Tuesday, explained many such Vietnam Wives Clubs are operating in communities throughout the nation.

Purpose of such an organization is the exchange of information and fellowship of servicemen's dependents with similar problems. If the members of the group are interested, Lang said plans might be developed for classes on cooking, sewing, knitting, budgeting or any subject that might be of benefit to the military dependents. Opportunities for volunteer service in the community can also be explored.

The committee which will be responsible for help in forming the club will be Mrs. J. E. Monier, Miss Olive Allison, Mrs. Warren Bettis and Mrs. Daniel Henderson, all members of the Chapter's Service to Military Families Committee.

Wives of service men in Vietnam can call the Area Red Cross Chapter for further information. Lang stated that wives of servicemen in other southeast Asia countries, such as Thailand and Korea, are welcome to join the club.

The third issue of Valley Voice, the local newsletter for area servicemen overseas will be mailed next Monday.

Red Cross Plans Club For Wives Of Men In Viet

Organization of a club for wives of servicemen in Vietnam is planned by the Area Red Cross Chapter's Service to Military Families Committee.

Charles Lang, chairman of the committee which met Tuesday, explained many such Vietnam Wives Clubs are operating in communities throughout the nation.

Purpose of such an organization is the exchange of information and fellowship of servicemen's dependents with similar problems. If the members of the group are interested, Lang said plans might be developed for classes on cooking, sewing, knitting, budgeting or any subject that might be of benefit to the military dependents. Opportunities for volunteer service in the community can also be explored.

The committee which will be responsible for help in forming the club will be Mrs. J. E. Monier, Miss Olive Allison, Mrs. Warren Bettis and Mrs. Daniel Henderson, all members of the Chapter's Service to Military Families Committee.

Wives of service men in Vietnam can call the Area Red Cross Chapter for further information. Lang stated that wives of servicemen in other southeast Asia countries, such as Thailand and Korea, are welcome to join the club.

The third issue of Valley Voice, the local newsletter for area servicemen overseas will be mailed next Monday.

Dodgers, Regan Halt Bucs' Win Streak With 5-3 Nod

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Vulture's feathers remain unruffled.

Sandy Koufax, Maury Wills and Tommy Davis are gone but Phil (The Vulture) Regan still is around, reminding the Los Angeles Dodgers of the good old days.

Regan, nicknamed The Vulture for the way he swooped down on victories in late-inning relief last year, picked up his first of the season Tuesday night in the Dodgers' 5-3 triumph over Pittsburgh.

It's been almost one full year since Regan lost a game. The last time was May 13, 1966 . . . appropriately enough, a Friday night. That came at Forbes Field and since then, The Vulture has been flying high.

He won 13 straight last season and Tuesday's victory extended his unbeaten appearance string to 66 games — 58 last season and seven this year.

The Pirates had another shot Tuesday and actually tied the game against him when he relieved starter Claude Osteen with one out in the eighth.

Roberto Clemente singled, delivering Wills, now a Pirate, with the tying run. But Regan itched out of the jam and held Pittsburgh at bay until the 11th when the Dodgers rallied.

John Roseboro opened with a single and when the Pirates failed to field Jim Hickman's bunt, the Dodgers had runners at first and second. A sacrifice moved the runners up and then Wes Parker, batting for Regan, doubled the two runs home.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday night, the New York Mets rallied for two runs in the bottom of the 12th inning and nipped San Francisco 3-2, Bob Gibson shut out Cincinnati on two hits as St. Louis defeated the Reds 5-0, Houston battered Philadelphia 10-3 and Atlanta stopped Chicago 3-1.

Wills, making his first appearance against his ex-teammates, smacked two hits, scored two runs and stole a base. But even he was unnerved by The Vulture. He singled with one out in the 10th but then was thrown out stealing—his first miss after six swipes this season.

Al Ferrara homered for the Dodgers.

Ed Kranepool, who had homered earlier, tripled home the tying run for the Mets in the 12th inning and then pinch hitter John Sullivan's single delivered the winner against San Francisco.

The Giants, who turned in the season's first triple play in the second inning, had taken the lead in the top of the 12th on Willie Mays' two-out single following a leadoff double by Hal Lanier.

Gibson struck out 12 Reds and ran his record to 4-1 as the Cardinals ended a four-game losing streak. It was the second time this season that the ace right-hander has fanned 10 or more batters.

Mike Shannon drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double in the fifth inning after Jim Maloney had walked three straight batters. Maloney, 1-1, also made three wild pitches, one of which allowed a run to score.

Rico Carty smashed a three-run homer, one of only three hits by the Braves, as Atlanta topped Chicago 3-1. Carty's shot in the second inning followed walks to Mack Jones and Joe Torre by Ferguson Jenkins, 3-1.

Rusty Staub drove in four runs with three hits and Houston rallied for eight runs in the eighth inning and a 10-3 victory over Philadelphia. Bob Aspromonte tagged a three-run homer for the Astros.

Nats Wear White, Split With A's

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Charlie Finley's snow-colored playshoes inspired the Washington Senators but Cal Griffith's frost-covered playground left the New York Yankees cold.

The Senators, aroused by the white kangaroo footwear introduced by owner Finley at Kansas City this spring, donned white caps and socks before splitting 1-0 shutouts with the Athletics in a doubleheader Tuesday night.

The Yankees, meanwhile, shivered through a 13-4 setback in Minnesota's sub-freezing weather after Twins' President Griffith decided against a postponement.

California edged Boston 3-2 behind Jim McGlothlin's three-hitter in the only other American League action. The Detroit-Chicago and Baltimore-Cleveland games were washed out.

In National League play New York nipped San Francisco 3-2 in 12 innings, Los Angeles topped Pittsburgh 5-3 in 11, Houston drubed Philadelphia 10-3, St. Louis blanked Cincinnati 5-0 and Atlanta downed Chicago 3-1.

George Selkirk, Washington's general manager, came up with the idea of going white-on-white against the Athletics, who survived an opening-day protest by Cleveland Manager Joe Adcock that their white shoes distracted opposing batters.

The Senators took batting practice in their regular dark caps and red and blue stockings, then slipped into the clubhouse and emerged in their new regalia.

Southpaw Pete Richert, working 7 1-3 innings, and two relievers then whitewashed the A's on two hits in the twilight opener, decided by Ken McMullen's run-scoring single in the sixth. But Kansas City rebounded behind right-hander Jim (Catfish) Hunter, who scattered seven hits, and an RBI single by Dick Green in the sixth to snap the Senators' winning string at four games.

In Minnesota, a combination of 13 Minnesota hits, four New York errors and temperatures that ranged from 32 degrees at the start to 29 at the finish took its toll on the Yankees.

"This is ridiculous," snorted relief pitcher Steve Hamilton, the Yankees' player representative. "We're got to have a rule you don't play in this kind of weather. Somebody has got to take responsibility for this."

Manager Ralph Houk, however, was philosophical about the decision to play the game. "We both had to play in it," Houk said. "It was as fair for one team as the other. If they say 'Play,' we play."

It was the coldest weather in which a game has gone on in Minnesota since the Twins entered the league in 1961. Monday night's scheduled game between the clubs had been postponed because of 40-degree temperature, strong winds and sporadic rain.

The Twins rocked Yankee starter Fritz Peterson for six runs in the first inning, enabling Dean Chance to breeze to an easy victory. Chance pitched six innings before his arm tightened up and Al Worthington finished up.

McGlothlin struck out 11 and drove in the Angels' first run with a third inning single. In the fourth, Jim Fregosi's homer and Jimmie Hall's run-scoring double boosted the lead to 3-0.

Walker Set With Pistons; Dove Seen Bullets Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Sonny Dove, a 6-foot-8 center from St. John's of New York, was expected to be the first pick of the Baltimore Bullets today in the National Basketball Association's draft of college seniors.

That will be moments after Detroit formally selects Jimmy Walker of Providence, the backcourt star the Pistons signed to a four-year, $250,000 contract Tuesday.

Walker, the nation's collegiate scoring leader last season with an average of 30.4 points per game, chose the Pistons over Indianapolis of the new American Basketball Association, which held its draft last month.

"I thought the NBA was better for my future as the more established league," Walker said, explaining his decision.

The ABA, which has lured Jim Barnes to Dallas from Los Angeles of the NBA and almost had Leroy Ellis away from Baltimore, could cause a bidding war with the older NBA which would rival the pro football era before the NFL-AFL merger.

Among the college stars who will be listening to both leagues are Dove, Mel Daniels of New Mexico, Earl Monroe of Winston - Salem State College, Ron Widby of Tennessee, Clem Haskins of Western Kentucky, Walt Frazier of Southern Illinois, Mal Graham of New York University, Wes Bialosuknia of Connecticut and Bob Lloyd of Rutgers.

Frank Scott, agent for many professional athletes, handled the negotiations for Walker. He set a May 1 deadline for bids but said he had received no firm offer from Mike Storen of Indianapolis.

Following Detroit and Baltimore in today's selections, the order of the draft's first round will be Chicago, Los Angeles, New York, Seattle, San Diego, St. Louis, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Boston and Philadelphia.

Jucker Signs Contract To Coach Royals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ed Jucker, hired as coach of the Cincinnati Royals Tuesday, a few hours later caught a plane to New York for his first chore—the National Basketball Association draft meeting.

Jucker, 49, who guided the University of Cincinnati Bearcats to NCAA championships in 1961 and 1962, succeeds Jack McMahon. McMahon quit the Royals to take over the new NBA team at San Diego.

During Jucker's five years at UC, the Bearcats became famous for winning games through a combination of tight defense and deliberate offense. When Jucker left in 1965 for "health and personal reasons" his teams had compiled a 113-28 record.

Talking with newsmen after his appointment, Jucker said he had learned a lot about coaching by watching games from the stands.

"It's necessary to have a running ball club," he said. "I've been involved enough to know that in this league the quicker you get the ball up court, the better chance you have to create scoring opportunities."

Terms of the contract were not disclosed, but Jucker reportedly got $22,000 a year and a free hand with his players.

George Selkirk, Washington's general manager, came up with the idea of going white-on-white against the Athletics, who survived an opening-day protest by Cleveland Manager Joe Adcock that their white shoes distracted opposing batters.

The Senators took batting practice in their regular dark caps and red and blue stockings, then slipped into the clubhouse and emerged in their new regalia.

Southpaw Pete Richert, working 7 1-3 innings, and two relievers then whitewashed the A's on two hits in the twilight opener, decided by Ken McMullen's run-scoring single in the sixth. But Kansas City rebounded behind right-hander Jim (Catfish) Hunter, who scattered seven hits, and an RBI single by Dick Green in the sixth to snap the Senators' winning string at four games.

In Minnesota, a combination of 13 Minnesota hits, four New York errors and temperatures that ranged from 32 degrees at the start to 29 at the finish took its toll on the Yankees.

"This is ridiculous," snorted relief pitcher Steve Hamilton, the Yankees' player representative. "We're got to have a rule you don't play in this kind of weather. Somebody has got to take responsibility for this."

Manager Ralph Houk, however, was philosophical about the decision to play the game. "We both had to play in it," Houk said. "It was as fair for one team as the other. If they say 'Play,' we play."

It was the coldest weather in which a game has gone on in Minnesota since the Twins entered the league in 1961. Monday night's scheduled game between the clubs had been postponed because of 40-degree temperature, strong winds and sporadic rain.

The Twins rocked Yankee starter Fritz Peterson for six runs in the first inning, enabling Dean Chance to breeze to an easy victory. Chance pitched six innings before his arm tightened up and Al Worthington finished up.

McGlothlin struck out 11 and drove in the Angels' first run with a third inning single. In the fourth, Jim Fregosi's homer and Jimmie Hall's run-scoring double boosted the lead to 3-0.

Walker Set With Pistons; Dove Seen Bullets Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Sonny Dove, a 6-foot-8 center from St. John's of New York, was expected to be the first pick of the Baltimore Bullets today in the National Basketball Association's draft of college seniors.

That will be moments after Detroit formally selects Jimmy Walker of Providence, the backcourt star the Pistons signed to a four-year, $250,000 contract Tuesday.

Walker, the nation's collegiate scoring leader last season with an average of 30.4 points per game, chose the Pistons over Indianapolis of the new American Basketball Association, which held its draft last month.

"I thought the NBA was better for my future as the more established league," Walker said, explaining his decision.

The ABA, which has lured Jim Barnes to Dallas from Los Angeles of the NBA and almost had Leroy Ellis away from Baltimore, could cause a bidding war with the older NBA which would rival the pro football era before the NFL-AFL merger.

Among the college stars who will be listening to both leagues are Dove, Mel Daniels of New Mexico, Earl Monroe of Winston - Salem State College, Ron Widby of Tennessee, Clem Haskins of Western Kentucky, Walt Frazier of Southern Illinois, Mal Graham of New York University, Wes Bialosuknia of Connecticut and Bob Lloyd of Rutgers.

Frank Scott, agent for many professional athletes, handled the negotiations for Walker. He set a May 1 deadline for bids but said he had received no firm offer from Mike Storen of Indianapolis.

Following Detroit and Baltimore in today's selections, the order of the draft's first round will be Chicago, Los Angeles, New York, Seattle, San Diego, St. Louis, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Boston and Philadelphia.

Jucker Signs Contract To Coach Royals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ed Jucker, hired as coach of the Cincinnati Royals Tuesday, a few hours later caught a plane to New York for his first chore—the National Basketball Association draft meeting.

Jucker, 49, who guided the University of Cincinnati Bearcats to NCAA championships in 1961 and 1962, succeeds Jack McMahon. McMahon quit the Royals to take over the new NBA team at San Diego.

During Jucker's five years at UC, the Bearcats became famous for winning games through a combination of tight defense and deliberate offense. When Jucker left in 1965 for "health and personal reasons" his teams had compiled a 113-28 record.

Talking with newsmen after his appointment, Jucker said he had learned a lot about coaching by watching games from the stands.

"It's necessary to have a running ball club," he said. "I've been involved enough to know that in this league the quicker you get the ball up court, the better chance you have to create scoring opportunities."

Terms of the contract were not disclosed, but Jucker reportedly got $22,000 a year and a free hand with his players.

Barbs Delight Wins Trial; 15 Likely For Derby Run

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — With the last of the dress rehearsals behind them, a field of 15 3-year-olds seemed likely today for the greatest two-minute show in horse racing — Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

If all 15 start, the 1¼-mile race will be one of the richest in its 92-year history, grossing $163,700 with the winner's pot totaling $121,200.

Spokesmen from the camps of several probables, however, indicate firm decisions won't be made until entry time Thursday morning.

Edith Bancroft's Damascus, winner of the Bay Shore and Wood Memorial, carried the role of probable favorite, with Churchill Downs handicapper Bill Smith pegging the son of Sword Dancer at 2-1.

Next in line was Louis Rowan's Ruken, the big invader from the West Coast, at 7-2 and Harvey Peltier's entry of Diplomat Way and Free Tumble at 9-2.

Successor, last year's juvenile champion from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, was quoted by Smith at 6-1. Successor has yet to get in the winner's circle in three tries this year.

Barbs Delight, winner of Tuesday's one-mile Derby Trial with a clocking only four-fifths of a second off the track record, was listed at 10-1 along with California Derby winner Reason to Hail.

Perne L. Grissom's Dr. Isby was at 12-1 and Proud Clarion, from John Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm, was at 15-1.

The probable field, listed at 30-1, included Ask the Fare, Dawn Glory, Field Master and Balouf.

Trainer Lou Cavalaris took Cool Reception out of the Derby line-up after the colt finished second to Barbs Delight by a half-length in the Derby Trial.

"He came out of the race all right, but I don't want any part of it (the Derby). I am passing," Cavalaris said after the trial.

Don Devine, trainer for Lightning Orphan, said a defeat by more than five lengths in the trial didn't change his Derby plans at all — at least for the present.

"If my horse is okay and not dead by Thursday, we'll enter," he quipped. "But whether we'll start is another question."

Gene Spalding, a Lexington, Ky., real estate man and one of three owners of Barbs Delight, said the bargain basement colt came out of the trial in good order and will start in Saturday's Derby.

No Derby jockey has been picked yet for Barbs Delight. Bill Hartack, who was aboard in the trial, is committed to Dr. Isby.

Barbs Delight, sold twice before he was of racing age for $2,000 and then $5,000, ran his bankroll up to $40,276 when he picked up the winner's share of $10,627 in the trial.

The trial, which hasn't produced a Derby winner since Tim Tam in 1958, ended the hopes for Cox and Sutcliff's Glengary, Mary Keim's Sleepy Pat as well as Cool Reception.

The 92nd Derby, only a paltry $2,250 short of the record gross value if 15 go to the post, starts at 5:30 p.m., EDT, with television coverage (CBS) from 5-6 p.m. and radio (CBS) from 5:15 to 5:45.

Toronto Captures Stanley Cup Title

TORONTO (AP) — Terry Sawchuk, veteran 37-year-old goalie who was benched, vindicated himself and brought the Stanley Cup back to the Toronto Maple Leafs.

It was Sawchuk's inspired goal tending that was the key to Montreal Canadiens Tuesday night that gave the Leafs the coveted Cup, symbolic of world hockey supremacy.

Toronto won the best-of-7 final National Hockey League playoff series, four games to two, and ended Montreal's two-year reign as Cup champions. The Leafs had won the Cup three straight years before Montreal took it in 1965.

Sawchuk was benched after Montreal won the first game of the series. He was replaced by another veteran goalie, 42-year-old Johnny Bower, who starred as the Leafs won the next two games.

Sawchuk got a second chance when Bower injured his thigh muscle in the pre-game warmup before the fourth game. Montreal beat him again to even the series. When Bower still was unable to start the fifth game, Sawchuk was given another chance and he rose to the occasion as the Leafs won 4-1 on Montreal ice.

He was superb against the Canadiens Tuesday night and the crowd of 15,977 gave him a standing ovation when the game ended.

"He came up with the key saves," said Jean Beliveau, the Montreal captain. "There were three or four shots early in the game you could usually count on as goals."

Toe Blake, the Montreal coach, added: "The Toronto goaltending in the last two games was exceptional."

Sawchuk made 40 saves. He stopped what seemed sure Montreal goals. He robbed Beliveau twice on close-in shots and stopped John Ferguson three times. He made another sensational shot on Bobby Rousseau's slapshot in the second period.

The only goal Sawchuk yielded was to Dick Duff at 5:28 of the third period when Toronto held a 2-0 lead on second period goals by Ron Ellis and Jim Pappin.

Gump Worsley, who made 33 saves in the Montreal net, was pulled out in the last minute of play and George Armstrong scored Toronto's last goal into an empty net with only 47 seconds left.

Pappin's goal, which turned out to be the winning one, first was credited to Pete Stemkowski. An official correction was made just before the end of the game.

The victory climaxed a Toronto comeback that started after the Leafs had lost 10 straight games midway of the regular NHL season and appeared out of the playoffs.

They rallied to finish third behind Chicago and Montreal and then beat Chicago in the semifinal playoffs, four games to two.

Sawchuk's goal tending was credited with a major role in Toronto's success against Chicago, too.

"They have to be the best hockey players I've ever had," said Toronto Coach Punch Imlach. "I have to thank everyone."

Oklahoma U. Selects Aide As New Coach

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Chuck Fairbanks is the soft-spoken, polished boy-next-door, who says with a reassuring smile "everything's gonna be all right." And you believe him.

The 33-year-old former Michigan State player was named head football coach at Oklahoma Tuesday, filling the vacancy left by the death of Jim Mackenzie, 37, Friday.

Solemn and determined, the youthful coach says he endorses most of Mackenzie's philosophies of football, but still makes it known he intends to be his own master.

Fairbanks was appointed by University President Dr. George L. Cross, but contract terms won't be settled until after a regents meeting May 11.

Senators Will Wear White Caps, Socks Against A's

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Washington Senators have an answer for the white shoes worn by the Kansas City Athletics. Senators are wearing white caps and socks—but only when they play the A's.

The idea came from George Selkirk, Washington general manager.

Cleveland Manager Joe Adcock protested Kansas City's white shoes on opening night here, contending they distracted the batter. American League President Joe Cronin didn't agree. The protest wasn't allowed.

Washington took batting and infield practice in their regular dark caps and red and blue stockings. But when they returned to the field for the start of the game they had on the new white hats and had removed the outer stockings, leaving only the white stockings.

"Well, we knew they couldn't protest," said Ken Harrelson of the Senators. "I think it's a good idea. The caps look pretty darn good, I think, and so do the socks."

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING — Bob Gibson, Cardinals, fired a two-hitter and struck out 12 for his fourth victory as St. Louis blanked Cincinnati 5-0.

Toronto Captures Stanley Cup Title

TORONTO (AP) — Terry Sawchuk, veteran 37-year-old goalie who was benched, vindicated himself and brought the Stanley Cup back to the Toronto Maple Leafs.

It was Sawchuk's inspired goal tending that was the key to Montreal Canadiens Tuesday night that gave the Leafs the coveted Cup, symbolic of world hockey supremacy.

Toronto won the best-of-7 final National Hockey League playoff series, four games to two, and ended Montreal's two-year reign as Cup champions. The Leafs had won the Cup three straight years before Montreal took it in 1965.

Sawchuk was benched after Montreal won the first game of the series. He was replaced by another veteran goalie, 42-year-old Johnny Bower, who starred as the Leafs won the next two games.

Sawchuk got a second chance when Bower injured his thigh muscle in the pre-game warmup before the fourth game. Montreal beat him again to even the series. When Bower still was unable to start the fifth game, Sawchuk was given another chance and he rose to the occasion as the Leafs won 4-1 on Montreal ice.

He was superb against the Canadiens Tuesday night and the crowd of 15,977 gave him a standing ovation when the game ended.

"He came up with the key saves," said Jean Beliveau, the Montreal captain. "There were three or four shots early in the game you could usually count on as goals."

Toe Blake, the Montreal coach, added: "The Toronto goaltending in the last two games was exceptional."

Sawchuk made 40 saves. He stopped what seemed sure Montreal goals. He robbed Beliveau twice on close-in shots and stopped John Ferguson three times. He made another sensational shot on Bobby Rousseau's slapshot in the second period.

The only goal Sawchuk yielded was to Dick Duff at 5:28 of the third period when Toronto held a 2-0 lead on second period goals by Ron Ellis and Jim Pappin.

Gump Worsley, who made 33 saves in the Montreal net, was pulled out in the last minute of play and George Armstrong scored Toronto's last goal into an empty net with only 47 seconds left.

Pappin's goal, which turned out to be the winning one, first was credited to Pete Stemkowski. An official correction was made just before the end of the game.

The victory climaxed a Toronto comeback that started after the Leafs had lost 10 straight games midway of the regular NHL season and appeared out of the playoffs.

They rallied to finish third behind Chicago and Montreal and then beat Chicago in the semifinal playoffs, four games to two.

Sawchuk's goal tending was credited with a major role in Toronto's success against Chicago, too.

"They have to be the best hockey players I've ever had," said Toronto Coach Punch Imlach. "I have to thank everyone."

Oklahoma U. Selects Aide As New Coach

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Chuck Fairbanks is the soft-spoken, polished boy-next-door, who says with a reassuring smile "everything's gonna be all right." And you believe him.

The 33-year-old former Michigan State player was named head football coach at Oklahoma Tuesday, filling the vacancy left by the death of Jim Mackenzie, 37, Friday.

Solemn and determined, the youthful coach says he endorses most of Mackenzie's philosophies of football, but still makes it known he intends to be his own master.

Fairbanks was appointed by University President Dr. George L. Cross, but contract terms won't be settled until after a regents meeting May 11.

Senators Will Wear White Caps, Socks Against A's

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Washington Senators have an answer for the white shoes worn by the Kansas City Athletics. Senators are wearing white caps and socks—but only when they play the A's.

The idea came from George Selkirk, Washington general manager.

Cleveland Manager Joe Adcock protested Kansas City's white shoes on opening night here, contending they distracted the batter. American League President Joe Cronin didn't agree. The protest wasn't allowed.

Washington took batting and infield practice in their regular dark caps and red and blue stockings. But when they returned to the field for the start of the game they had on the new white hats and had removed the outer stockings, leaving only the white stockings.

"Well, we knew they couldn't protest," said Ken Harrelson of the Senators. "I think it's a good idea. The caps look pretty darn good, I think, and so do the socks."

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING — Bob Gibson, Cardinals, fired a two-hitter and struck out 12 for his fourth victory as St. Louis blanked Cincinnati 5-0.

BATTING — Ed Kranepool, Mets, homered, beat out a bunt and drove in the tying run with a 12th-inning triple in a 3-2 victory over San Francisco.

Bubba's Younger Brother Has Large Shoes To Fill

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — When Lawrence Smith was eight years old, his older brothers took him to the sandlots of Beaumont, Tex., to teach him to play football.

The opposition was other kids in the neighborhood... kids like Mel Farr, Gale Sayers, Larry Ferguson, Aaron Brown, Jerry Levias, and, of course, Smith's brothers, Willie Ray and Bubba.

The other boys learned well enough to gain all-star status at such schools as UCLA, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota and Southern Methodist, where Levias was voted most valuable of the year in the Southwest Conference last year.

They called Lawrence Smith Tody, a derivative of Toro, the Spanish word for bull. Tody is all of that at 18, standing two inches shorter and 10 pounds lighter than his famous brother Bubba, a 6-foot-8, 285-pound All-America defensive tackle at MSU last year and the No. 1 pick in the 1967 pro football draft.

When Tody reported for spring football practice at MSU this year, Bubba gave him this advice:

"You have only two ways to go. You are going to be good or you are going to be sorry."

Tody doesn't like the comparison to his older brother, an outgoing jolly fellow who responded to the cries of "Kill, Bubba, kill!" at Spartan Stadium for three years.

"Bubba says I had more potential as a freshman that he did — I'm not in the position to say. He wants me to excell."

"I asked him to stop telling people that, but he keeps it up. It puts an awful load on me. I haven't played a college game yet and people ask me if I want to play pro football and who would I like to play for?

"I know everyone will measure me against Bubba. I took it all into consideration when I came to Michigan State, in particular, because everyone here knows him better than anywhere else.

"But I'm not like Bubba and I want people to understand that."

Where Bubba merely knocked down blockers and ball carriers with carefree abandon, Tody is the type who gets tossed out of games (the Indiana freshman game last year) and is prone to personal fouls.

"Bubba can smile and wave and say hi to everybody and that's his way," observed Tody, who will be a middle guard on the Spartan defensive unit. "But there are days I can't do that. Some days I just want to be left alone."

Like Bubba and older brother Willie Ray, Tody played high school football for his coaching father, W. R. Smith, in Beaumont.

"I was recruited heavy by the Texas schools," Tody said, "and I came close to going to Houston. I weighed Michigan State against the others.

Houston Meet Opens Today, Attracts 100

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Champions International Golf Tournamen opens Thursday, and most of the players already are here for practice rounds.

There is no pro-amateur event this year, but a clinic and a driving contest were scheduled today.

The 100 entrants have claimed a grand total of 565 championships. Ben Hogan, the top champion in the line-up, alone has won 61 in his career.

Gary Player, Sam Snead and Bruce Devlin were the only name stars absent. This year's leading money winners are on hand and hoping to deposit part of the Champions' $115,000 cash to their accounts.

Arnold Palmer, the defending champion, leads to date with $73,273.21 in official winnings. Gay Brewer is second with $67,597.50 and Doug Sanders third with $61,091.50.

Brewer put himself through a tough warmup Tuesday—nine holes with Jack Nicklaus after 18 in a foursome with Gene Littler, Chuck Courtney and Phil Rodgers.

Since his Masters victory a month ago, Brewer has played only two tournaments, winning $2,600 in the Tournament of Champions and $1,250 in the Dallas Open.

The Weather Bureau said rain is probable Friday. Forecasters looked for a return of warm, wet air from the sea with no new cool front to sweep it away.

Publicity Director Is Named At Meadows

Max Robinson, award winning harness writer and former sports editor of the Utica, N. Y. Press and Sunday Observer Dispatch, has been named publicity director of The MEADOWS, it was announced today by general manager M. Joseph Lynch of the Washington, Pa. harness track.

As Lynch announced Robinson's appointment in Washington, Harness Racing Institute in Chicago announced that Robinson had been named national first prize winner in the news story category of the 1967 John Hervey competition, honoring outstanding reporting of harness racing during the past year.

Robinson, 35 years old, began his Meadows duties May 1. He was named sports editor of the Utica papers in October, 1965, after serving as assistant sports editor since December, 1958. Robinson joined the Utica staff in 1953 as a general assignment reporter after receiving his B. S. degree in public relations at Utica College. He wrote a weekly harness racing column for the Utica papers and has covered many of upstate New York's harness events.

Bubba's Younger Brother Has Large Shoes To Fill

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — When Lawrence Smith was eight years old, his older brothers took him to the sandlots of Beaumont, Tex., to teach him to play football.

The opposition was other kids in the neighborhood... kids like Mel Farr, Gale Sayers, Larry Ferguson, Aaron Brown, Jerry Levias, and, of course, Smith's brothers, Willie Ray and Bubba.

The other boys learned well enough to gain all-star status at such schools as UCLA, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota and Southern Methodist, where Levias was voted most valuable of the year in the Southwest Conference last year.

They called Lawrence Smith Tody, a derivative of Toro, the Spanish word for bull. Tody is all of that at 18, standing two inches shorter and 10 pounds lighter than his famous brother Bubba, a 6-foot-8, 285-pound All-America defensive tackle at MSU last year and the No. 1 pick in the 1967 pro football draft.

When Tody reported for spring football practice at MSU this year, Bubba gave him this advice:

"You have only two ways to go. You are going to be good or you are going to be sorry."

Tody doesn't like the comparison to his older brother, an outgoing jolly fellow who responded to the cries of "Kill, Bubba, kill!" at Spartan Stadium for three years.

"Bubba says I had more potential as a freshman that he did — I'm not in the position to say. He wants me to excell."

"I asked him to stop telling people that, but he keeps it up. It puts an awful load on me. I haven't played a college game yet and people ask me if I want to play pro football and who would I like to play for?

"I know everyone will measure me against Bubba. I took it all into consideration when I came to Michigan State, in particular, because everyone here knows him better than anywhere else.

"But I'm not like Bubba and I want people to understand that."

Where Bubba merely knocked down blockers and ball carriers with carefree abandon, Tody is the type who gets tossed out of games (the Indiana freshman game last year) and is prone to personal fouls.

"Bubba can smile and wave and say hi to everybody and that's his way," observed Tody, who will be a middle guard on the Spartan defensive unit. "But there are days I can't do that. Some days I just want to be left alone."

Like Bubba and older brother Willie Ray, Tody played high school football for his coaching father, W. R. Smith, in Beaumont.

"I was recruited heavy by the Texas schools," Tody said, "and I came close to going to Houston. I weighed Michigan State against the others.

Houston Meet Opens Today, Attracts 100

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Champions International Golf Tournamen opens Thursday, and most of the players already are here for practice rounds.

There is no pro-amateur event this year, but a clinic and a driving contest were scheduled today.

The 100 entrants have claimed a grand total of 565 championships. Ben Hogan, the top champion in the line-up, alone has won 61 in his career.

Gary Player, Sam Snead and Bruce Devlin were the only name stars absent. This year's leading money winners are on hand and hoping to deposit part of the Champions' $115,000 cash to their accounts.

Arnold Palmer, the defending champion, leads to date with $73,273.21 in official winnings. Gay Brewer is second with $67,597.50 and Doug Sanders third with $61,091.50.

Brewer put himself through a tough warmup Tuesday—nine holes with Jack Nicklaus after 18 in a foursome with Gene Littler, Chuck Courtney and Phil Rodgers.

Since his Masters victory a month ago, Brewer has played only two tournaments, winning $2,600 in the Tournament of Champions and $1,250 in the Dallas Open.

The Weather Bureau said rain is probable Friday. Forecasters looked for a return of warm, wet air from the sea with no new cool front to sweep it away.

Publicity Director Is Named At Meadows

Max Robinson, award winning harness writer and former sports editor of the Utica, N. Y. Press and Sunday Observer Dispatch, has been named publicity director of The MEADOWS, it was announced today by general manager M. Joseph Lynch of the Washington, Pa. harness track.

As Lynch announced Robinson's appointment in Washington, Harness Racing Institute in Chicago announced that Robinson had been named national first prize winner in the news story category of the 1967 John Hervey competition, honoring outstanding reporting of harness racing during the past year.

Robinson, 35 years old, began his Meadows duties May 1. He was named sports editor of the Utica papers in October, 1965, after serving as assistant sports editor since December, 1958. Robinson joined the Utica staff in 1953 as a general assignment reporter after receiving his B. S. degree in public relations at Utica College. He wrote a weekly harness racing column for the Utica papers and has covered many of upstate New York's harness events.

FIVE DIABETIC WARNINGS TO CHILDREN

If a child begins to drink great quantities of liquids but is continuously thirsty; if he eats more food than before, but loses weight steadily; if he begins to wet the bed after having previously stopped doing so; if he suddenly seems less peppy; and if he suffers from severe constipation — take him to the doctor as soon as possible.

These five symptoms present at one time are indications of a possible diabetes. A quick detection in children can be life saving. When treated early, diabetes, a chronic disease, can be controlled.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound and dispense yours.

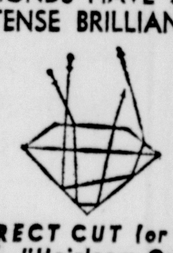
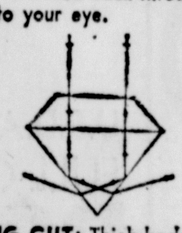
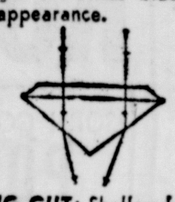
HERE'S WHY Shaw's DIAMONDS HAVE SUCH INTENSE BRILLIANCE



CORRECT CUT (or how a Shaw's "Heirloom Quality" diamond is proportioned): All light is reflected back through the crown to your eye.



WRONG CUT: Thick body swallows light . . . has blackish or glassy appearance.



WRONG CUT: Shallow body allows light to pass through; lacks lustre.

Hancock Urged To Take Part In 'Mailbox Week'

Chester Postmaster Robert Edwards has called on Hancock County residents to participate in National Mailbox Week.

The post office department designates a week during May each year when residents on rural delivery routes are encouraged to examine and improve, where it is necessary, the appearance of their mailboxes, he pointed out. May 15-20 has been selected this year, he added.

The purpose is to call attention to the need of providing receptacles which protect mail from the weather and are neat in appearance. Edwards declared they also should be conveniently located and safe to use.

"Neat and attractive mailboxes will make a significant contribution to the objectives and success of President Johnson's natural beauty program," he added.

Patrick Henry was admitted to the legal bar after only six months of study.

Weirton Steel Sued By Pittsburgh Man

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pittsburgh man has filed suit for damages in excess of $10,000 against the Weirton Steel Co. for burns he claims he suffered when molten steel was dumped at the firm's Weirton, W.Va., plant on Oct. 12, 1965.

Matthew J. Lucas of the city's North Side filed the suit Tuesday in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court. The suit said Lucas was working at the Weirton plant as an employe of a contractor.

Hancock Urged To Take Part In 'Mailbox Week'

Chester Postmaster Robert Edwards has called on Hancock County residents to participate in National Mailbox Week.

The post office department designates a week during May each year when residents on rural delivery routes are encouraged to examine and improve, where it is necessary, the appearance of their mailboxes, he pointed out. May 15-20 has been selected this year, he added.

The purpose is to call attention to the need of providing receptacles which protect mail from the weather and are neat in appearance. Edwards declared they also should be conveniently located and safe to use.

"Neat and attractive mailboxes will make a significant contribution to the objectives and success of President Johnson's natural beauty program," he added.

Patrick Henry was admitted to the legal bar after only six months of study.

Weirton Steel Sued By Pittsburgh Man

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pittsburgh man has filed suit for damages in excess of $10,000 against the Weirton Steel Co. for burns he claims he suffered when molten steel was dumped at the firm's Weirton, W.Va., plant on Oct. 12, 1965.

Matthew J. Lucas of the city's North Side filed the suit Tuesday in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court. The suit said Lucas was working at the Weirton plant as an employe of a contractor.

Surveyor Dug 4 Historic Trenches

Lunar Soil Seen Strong Enough To Land Craft

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 3 starts a well-earned two-week sleep tonight after 10 days of digging into the mysteries of the moon.

Four historic trenches — the first furrows made by man in any but his native soil — are visible evidence of what scientists suspected — that the lunar surface is strong enough to support manned landing craft.

More than 6,000 pictures televised by the tripod spacecraft show the dry, grainy soil has the consistency of wet sand, at least to the depth of 7½ inches, and there is some indication of a harder layer underneath.

The hand-sized scoop mounted on a five-foot extension, was left poised 30 inches above the surface, ready to resume digging after the sun rises on the moon May 17.

Picture taking will continue until the lunar sunset, about 6 p.m. EST tonight, prevents Surveyor 3's swiveling eye from snapping any more shots of the gouged and hammered terrain between two of the spacecraft's skeletal circular padded feet.

In 27 hours of scoop operation, Surveyor 3 has dug four 2-inch-wide trenches, the largest nearly two-foot long.

That one, created by five passes of the scoop, is 7½ inches deep. Measurement of the electrical power needed to pull the shovel toward the spacecraft on successive scoops indicated soil firmness increases with depth.

Latest photographs of this series show the walls are still standing, marked with well-defined tracks from screw heads on the lower jaw of the scoop.

Two rocks — one a half-inch in diameter, the other twice that size — have been picked up by the scoop but disappeared after being dropped.

The scoop, like the arm of a toy steam shovel, also was pushed into the soil seven times and dropped — from heights up to 30 inches — 13 times to test the bearing strength of the surface.

All tests so far, a laboratory spokesman said, show the terrain that surrounds Surveyor 3's landing site in the dry Ocean of Storms would support the 15-ton landing craft planned in the Apollo program.

Similar predictions were made after the soft landing in the same Ocean of Storms last June by Surveyor 1, which had a camera but no scoop.

Surveyor 3 was designed to make a soft landing too, but came close to the fate of Surveyor 2, which crashed on the moon last September after a steering maneuver failed.

For unknown reasons, Surveyor 3's small balance-control rockets kept burning briefly after the touchdown April 19. Compensating for the weak lunar gravity, they allowed the spacecraft to bounce twice before it settled down inside a shallow crater, without damage.

Plans Are Set In Field Trial

Plans for a field trial were advanced Monday night during the meeting of the Chester - Newell Sportsman's Club. Fifteen attended.

Thirteen applications for new membership were received. The board of directors will act on them later this week.

Noel Pickle, chairman of the field trial committee, said the event has been scheduled for June 17. Trophies and rosettes will be awarded and a lunch served.

Howard Lyons, chairman of the farm committee, reported that work is progressing on the feed program for wildlife. James Michaels, Hancock County agricultural agent, will attend the next meeting to advise on the farm program and check on the progress of the club.

The members voted to sponsor a youth to the Hancock County conservation outing June 9-10 at Tomlinson Run State Park. The club also gave its approval for the local 4-H club to use the grounds on Gas Valley Rd. one night this week.

President Kenneth Williams said he has called two "work parties."

One, which will begin Wednesday at 6 p. m., will repair the road leading to the club. The other, Saturday at 8 a.m. will cut feed and cover for wildlife.

The next meeting of the club will be June 5.

Modern soccer originated in England.

J. R. McLaren Given Honors By Ceramists

John R McLaren of Dairy Ln., sales manager and a member of the board of directors of Bell Operations and sales representative consultant with Central Silica Co., today received national recognition in the ceramic field when he was made a fellow of the American Ceramic Society at the group's 69th annual meeting at the Americana Hotel in New York City.

Before joining Bell in 1956, McLaren was associated with Allied Engineering and Ferro Corp. A member of the Ceramic Society's materials and equipment division, he is the division's trustee.

The honor of fellow is awarded in recognition of "broad and productive scholarship in ceramic science and technology or conspicuous achievement in the ceramic industrial fields."

Nearly 3,500 ceramic scientists, plant operators and engineers are attending the Annual Meeting to hear more than 370 technical papers. The society's annual meetings are the largest gatherings of ceramists in the world.

The meeting opened last Saturday and will close Thursday.

Bond Drive Set By Weirton Steel

WEIRTON — A campaign in which employes will be given the opportunity to purchase Savings Bonds and the new Freedom Share Notes under the payroll savings plan will be held in the plants and offices of the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp. from May 10 until June 7.

C. G. Tournay, president, said Weirton Steel, along with other business firms, is cooperating with the Treasury Department in this year's nationwide drive to promote and encourage personal savings through the purchase of Savings Bonds under the payroll savings plan.

He said preparations are now under way for the company's campaign, with volunteer workers being briefed on the Freedom Share Notes so they can explain the procedure of purchase to employees.

The drive will be launched officially at noon May 10 with a kickoff meeting at the Millsop Community Center. A report meeting is scheduled at the center May 24. The campaign will conclude with a meeting there June 7.

Federal Court Suit In Making

Civil Rights Forces Lose In Mississippi Elections

SUNFLOWER, Miss. (AP) — Negro civil rights forces apparently lost their first major grass roots political fight in this delta area, where Negroes outnumber whites.

However, a federal court suit was in the making, alleging that the municipal election in Sunflower was not held "in a fair and impartial manner."

Registered Negro voters outnumber white voters in Sunflower 185-153. But when the votes were counted Tuesday, white candidates for mayor and alderman held a decisive edge.

Mayor W. L. Patterson, who has held the $50 a month post for 12 years, defeated Otis Brown Jr., 21, by a count of 194-123 — indicating that Patterson drew some Negro support despite the aggressive Negro campaign to split the balloting along racial lines.

"I campaigned to get the votes of some of the good Negroes, but not those radicals in the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party," said Patterson.

Poll officials gathered the ballot boxes after the count and took them to a bank, where they were placed in a vault.

The special elections here and in nearby Moorhead were ordered by a federal court. Moorhead, however, was not considered the prime battleground because white voters there outnumbered Negro voters, 390-310.

At Moorhead, the ballot count was discontinued Tuesday night with Mayor Wesley I. Upchurch holding a 370-264 lead over Jimmy Lee Douglas. White councilmen also were ahead.

The ballot count resumes today.

The heavy Negro registration in both towns came after the 1965 elections were voided by the court on the ground that Negroes were not given enough time to get on the registration rolls.

The suit leading to the decision was filed by the Freedom Democratic party formed by civil rights forces in Mississippi and predominantly Negro.

A federal suit challenging the Sunflower election was decided upon Tuesday night, at an FDP rally.

Alvin Bronstein, an FDP lawyer from Jackson, said the suit was based primarily on a claim that election officials broke an agreement to allow a Negro voting commissioner to advise Negro illiterates in the polling booths.

Bronstein said 38 challenged ballots, not counted in the total, would be involved in the protest.

Both Sunflower and Moorhead are in the table-flat alluvial plain where cotton is still king — and where many Negroes live in poverty, displaced from farm work by extensive mechanization.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., who owns a 5,000-acre farm in Sunflower County, has long been a target of civil rights criticism. Abut 64 per cent of the county's 45,000 residents are Negro.

LBJ Signs Bill Averting Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't worry, you can take that train ride or ship your goods by rail today—there's no railroad strike. At least not for 47 more days.

President Johnson signed an emergency bill extending until June 19 a strike ban affecting 137,000 members of six unions for railroad shop workers.

He signed the bill—alone and without ceremony—11 hours before the walkout scheduled for 12:01 a.m. today by the rail workers.

The unions immediately sent formal notice of the strike postponement to their members. It was the third delay in the threatened strike. The first was for 60 days under the Railway Labor Act, the second a 20-day extension voted by Congress.

George Christian, White House press secretary, said Johnson soon would submit to Congress proposals for settling the dispute. His pledge of such proposals eased the way for quick congressional passage of the emergency extension.

The unions—whose walkout would cripple railroads with about 95 per cent of the nation's rail transport facilities—demand a six per cent general wage boost. They also want 12.5-cent-an-hour hikes for skilled men the first year and a five per cent raise and 12.5 cents more for skilled workers the second year.

The railroads have offered an 18-month contract providing a six per cent general wage increase plus a 5-cent an hour skill boost.

Clarkson Event Set

The annual mother-daughter banquet of the Women's Association of the Clarkson United Presbyterian Church will be held Monday night at 6:30 at the church. A coverdish dinner will be served.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 3 starts a well-earned two-week sleep tonight after 10 days of digging into the mysteries of the moon.

Four historic trenches — the first furrows made by man in any but his native soil — are visible evidence of what scientists suspected — that the lunar surface is strong enough to support manned landing craft.

More than 6,000 pictures televised by the tripod spacecraft show the dry, grainy soil has the consistency of wet sand, at least to the depth of 7½ inches, and there is some indication of a harder layer underneath.

The hand-sized scoop mounted on a five-foot extension, was left poised 30 inches above the surface, ready to resume digging after the sun rises on the moon May 17.

Picture taking will continue until the lunar sunset, about 6 p.m. EST tonight, prevents Surveyor 3's swiveling eye from snapping any more shots of the gouged and hammered terrain between two of the spacecraft's skeletal circular padded feet.

In 27 hours of scoop operation, Surveyor 3 has dug four 2-inch-wide trenches, the largest nearly two-foot long.

That one, created by five passes of the scoop, is 7½ inches deep. Measurement of the electrical power needed to pull the shovel toward the spacecraft on successive scoops indicated soil firmness increases with depth.

Latest photographs of this series show the walls are still standing, marked with well-defined tracks from screw heads on the lower jaw of the scoop.

Two rocks — one a half-inch in diameter, the other twice that size — have been picked up by the scoop but disappeared after being dropped.

The scoop, like the arm of a toy steam shovel, also was pushed into the soil seven times and dropped — from heights up to 30 inches — 13 times to test the bearing strength of the surface.

All tests so far, a laboratory spokesman said, show the terrain that surrounds Surveyor 3's landing site in the dry Ocean of Storms would support the 15-ton landing craft planned in the Apollo program.

Similar predictions were made after the soft landing in the same Ocean of Storms last June by Surveyor 1, which had a camera but no scoop.

Surveyor 3 was designed to make a soft landing too, but came close to the fate of Surveyor 2, which crashed on the moon last September after a steering maneuver failed.

For unknown reasons, Surveyor 3's small balance-control rockets kept burning briefly after the touchdown April 19. Compensating for the weak lunar gravity, they allowed the spacecraft to bounce twice before it settled down inside a shallow crater, without damage.

Federal Court Suit In Making

Civil Rights Forces Lose In Mississippi Elections

SUNFLOWER, Miss. (AP) — Negro civil rights forces apparently lost their first major grass roots political fight in this delta area, where Negroes outnumber whites.

However, a federal court suit was in the making, alleging that the municipal election in Sunflower was not held "in a fair and impartial manner."

Registered Negro voters outnumber white voters in Sunflower 185-153. But when the votes were counted Tuesday, white candidates for mayor and alderman held a decisive edge.

Mayor W. L. Patterson, who has held the $50 a month post for 12 years, defeated Otis Brown Jr., 21, by a count of 194-123 — indicating that Patterson drew some Negro support despite the aggressive Negro campaign to split the balloting along racial lines.

"I campaigned to get the votes of some of the good Negroes, but not those radicals in the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party," said Patterson.

Poll officials gathered the ballot boxes after the count and took them to a bank, where they were placed in a vault.

The special elections here and in nearby Moorhead were ordered by a federal court. Moorhead, however, was not considered the prime battleground because white voters there outnumbered Negro voters, 390-310.

At Moorhead, the ballot count was discontinued Tuesday night with Mayor Wesley I. Upchurch holding a 370-264 lead over Jimmy Lee Douglas. White councilmen also were ahead.

The ballot count resumes today.

The heavy Negro registration in both towns came after the 1965 elections were voided by the court on the ground that Negroes were not given enough time to get on the registration rolls.

The suit leading to the decision was filed by the Freedom Democratic party formed by civil rights forces in Mississippi and predominantly Negro.

Alvin Bronstein, an FDP lawyer from Jackson, said the suit was based primarily on a claim that election officials broke an agreement to allow a Negro voting commissioner to advise Negro illiterates in the polling booths.

Bronstein said 38 challenged ballots, not counted in the total, would be involved in the protest.

Both Sunflower and Moorhead are in the table-flat alluvial plain where cotton is still king — and where many Negroes live in poverty, displaced from farm work by extensive mechanization.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., who owns a 5,000-acre farm in Sunflower County, has long been a target of civil rights criticism. Abut 64 per cent of the county's 45,000 residents are Negro.

LBJ Signs Bill Averting Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't worry, you can take that train ride or ship your goods by rail today—there's no railroad strike. At least not for 47 more days.

President Johnson signed an emergency bill extending until June 19 a strike ban affecting 137,000 members of six unions for railroad shop workers.

He signed the bill—alone and without ceremony—11 hours before the walkout scheduled for 12:01 a.m. today by the rail workers.

The unions immediately sent formal notice of the strike postponement to their members. It was the third delay in the threatened strike. The first was for 60 days under the Railway Labor Act, the second a 20-day extension voted by Congress.

George Christian, White House press secretary, said Johnson soon would submit to Congress proposals for settling the dispute. His pledge of such proposals eased the way for quick congressional passage of the emergency extension.

The unions—whose walkout would cripple railroads with about 95 per cent of the nation's rail transport facilities—demand a six per cent general wage boost. They also want 12.5-cent-an-hour hikes for skilled men the first year and a five per cent raise and 12.5 cents more for skilled workers the second year.

The railroads have offered an 18-month contract providing a six per cent general wage increase plus a 5-cent an hour skill boost.

Action Is Taken On Court Costs

An ordinance amending the 1967 appropriations legislation in order to obtain funds to pay court costs of the "Amato case" was placed on first reading when Wellsville Council met Tuesday night.

The $507 owed Columbiana County will be obtained as follows: $400 from the police department allotment of $1,625; $75 from the $575 appropriation for legal advertising; $20 from the sewer maintenance fund. This will increase the appropriation for solicitor's court cost fees from $30 to $525.

COUNCIL CLERK Wayne Rose reminded members that Sheriff Russell Van Fossan already has allowed the city two weeks and recommended prompt action be taken.

Angelo Georgetti, operator of Georgetti's River-Rail Terminal, was given a deadline of May 15 to either pay the city $2,900 owed in back rent or to show receipts indicating why he may owe less money. The city-owned property has had no rent paid on it to date this year.

Crit Smallwood of Danbury Ave., in the Pondage district, whose wife complained to council at its last meeting concerning junked cars in their area, asked what action will be taken in moving the abandoned vehicles.

Smallwood was told the transporter of the autos, Bernard Ference, had agreed not to bring any more junked cars to the lot there. He also was informed that the city soon may have a place for storing such vehicles.

Solicitor Delmar T. O'Hara said the owner of the property will sell it to an area resident in order to keep it clear. O'Hara said the city also might be interested in purchasing the land.

IN OTHER business, Council voted to voice no objection on a request from the State Liquor Control Board relative to the issuance of a C-2 permit at the Quickie Shop on Clark Ave.

Council had a similar request at its last meeting and voted to also allow another carry - out permit to go through because, Councilman Jack Call said, "It doesn't do any good to complain."

Call referred to a dispute last year concerning some city officials' attempt to block the state from issuing a liquor license to a firm located near the high school. According to Call, the establishment was given the license by a Judge Case of the state liquor board over Council's objections for lack of grounds.

Council will attempt to meet with state highway officials within a week to approve the proposed relocation of Route 7 through the city. When members were polled, none had any objection to approving the plans despite a request earlier from the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce urging the lawmakers to hold their decision pending further study.

Legislation was ordered calling for advertising of bids on a tract of city-owned timber near the municipal reservoir. Call said the conditions of sale should include a "sufficiently high" bond, and agreement by the purchaser to leave the area clear of debris.

The Street and Light Committee will study a request made by Henry Woomer, to cut a curb at 610 Henry Ave.

A meeting will be held between Council and representatives of the Ohio Power Co. concerning lights on Main St.

Brad Phillips reported the Pennsylvania Railroad has issued warning cards to all children who must use the 18th St. crossing in traveling to and from school.

Councilmen Russell Keefer, John McGarey and Glenn Mathess were excused.

Allen Baldwin presided.

LISBON — Robert Boyce, Columbiana County Home superintendent, received the only passing grade in a competitive Civil Service examination for the post.

The Department of State Personnel at Columbus said Boyce received a score of 90.59 and, with an additional 10 points allowed service veterans, had a total of 100.59.

Russell V. Phillis of Salem R.D, former County Home superintendent, and Joe Mattevi of Lisbon R. D. 4 each received 69.33. They failed to qualify for the eligibility list.

In the examination for the post of matron, Mrs. Phillis received 87.14, Mrs. Mattevi, 82.19, and Mrs. Boyce, 75.83. Mrs. Boyce is home matron.

Gause of Guilford Lake have been outspoken in their dissatisfaction with Boyce. The examination was to have provided a replacement.

LISBON — Robert Boyce, Columbiana County Home superintendent, received the only passing grade in a competitive Civil Service examination for the post.

The Department of State Personnel at Columbus said Boyce received a score of 90.59 and, with an additional 10 points allowed service veterans, had a total of 100.59.

Russell V. Phillis of Salem R.D., former County Home superintendent, and Joe Mattevi of Lisbon R. D. 4 each received 69.33. They failed to qualify for the eligibility list.

In the examination for the post of matron, Mrs. Phillis received 87.14, Mrs. Mattevi, 82.19, and Mrs. Boyce, 75.83. Mrs. Boyce is home matron.

County commissioners will consider the scores at their regular meeting Thursday.

Boyce received a provisional appointment as superintendent when the former board of commissioners discharged Phillis in the fall of 1965. Commissioners James W. Boyd of East Liverpool and Charles J. Gause of Guilford Lake have been outspoken in their dissatisfaction with Boyce. The examination was to have provided a replacement.

Puts Down Incipient Revolt

Dirksen Keeping 'Balky' GOP Behind Viet Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen is keeping his sometimes balky Republican troops lined up behind President Johnson in fighting the war in Vietnam.

The resilient Dirksen climbed out of a hospital bed Monday, not yet fully recovered from a bout with pneumonia, to put down an incipient revolt among party members who don't like the way the war is going and are searching for a Republican alternative.

When Dirksen got through lecturing them at a closed Policy Committee meeting about the political liabilities of questioning the comander in chief's basic direction of a bloody conflict, they went docilely along with a statement giving "wholehearted support" to Johnson and standing "foursquare" behind him.

This put the Senate Republicans in line with the latest stance assumed by one of the leading candidates for their party's 1968 presidential nomination, Michigan Gov. George Romney.

Romney said in Atlanta, Ga., Monday that "I don't think we should pursue a way that will weaken the President as long as he is president. And I don't think we should pursue a course that will help the enemy."

The wily Dirksen left an avenue open for the GOP dissenters in "preserving wholly the right of full and fair inquiry and criticism" on their part. They, in turn, left no doubt of their intention to march up that route.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., leading war critics, enlisted Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., a supporter of Johnson's course in urging greater administration efforts to get negotiations and avoidance of any step that might bring Red China into the war.

Javits said this and other proposals were being submitted for a proposed policy statement. Dirkson said a statement will be made by the Senate-House leadership at its next meeting. But he made it clear it will not "modify our support of the President."

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield R-Ore., a first-line war critic, called for "a frank review within the Republican party of this nation's policies and objectives in Vietnam."

He was happy about a disputed report of the Policy Committee's staff which sharply criticized Johnson's policies and suggested that Repubicans ought not to take any responsibility for his "mistakes."

"I believe this report will be of great value to us in proposing alternatives to administration policies which have been unable to bring either victory or solution," he said.

But Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, said that while the bulk of the report was factual and useful, "I find it necessary to disassociate myself with a number of its inferences and suggested conclusions."

'Love Through Art' Man's Platform For President

NEW YORK (AP) — A delegate with a banana skin stuck on his nose was walking down the aisle of the Village Theater as Louis Abolafia spelled out his campaign platform for the presidency of the United States.

"I want to spread love through art," Abolafia was saying between bites of a banana. "If I become president, I will set up cultural centers throughout the country."

"People's tastes would be improved," he explained. "Eventually love would spread all over the world and wars would become impossible because everybody would love everybody else."

Launching his campaign Tuesday, Abolafia, 25, had the theater alive with a semi-psychedelic East Village happening billed as a "Cosmic Love Convention, a 72-hour Freakathon for Hippies and Saints."

The delegates were met in the lobby by a sign reading: "Help a beatnick in his humble attempt at an honest living. Buy a banana."

Harold Chizman, seated on a mat covered with bananas, said they cost 15 cents apiece but added, "You get three cents back if you return the peel."

Inside, granny-dressed and miniskirted teeny-boppers danced to the amplified dissonance of a rock 'n' roll group while projectionists played movies and slides on the ceiling, walls and floor.

"The idea is to have the audience and the band become one in the same," explained Abolafia. "There is no split between performing and looking."

A blonde beating a tambourine ran up the aisle crying "Love, Love, Love!" as Abolafia explained his campaign strategy.

"I am asking supporters to write in my name. Of course, a lot of my supporters are too young to vote, but it's healthy that they should be interesed," he said over the din.

"Later we'll have lots more entertainment. We'll have poetry reading and singing and more groups playing. We haven't really gotten warmed up yet," he concluded and strode off to be with his supporters.

Campaign manager Andrew Kent explained outside that his candidate does not really expect to win the presidency.

"However," he added, "it's a sign that Abolafia is emerging from the underground."

Clash Of Viewpoints Mars Protestants' Unity Proposal

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A clash of viewpoints today confronted Protestant representatives over whether to press ahead with development of a plan for a united church — or to defer it temporarily.

"We can no longer pussyfoot in this matter," declared Methodist Bishop John Wesley Lord of Washington, D.C., urging immediate steps to proceed with the work.

However, Episcopal Bishop G. Francis Burrill of Chicago said such action would be "premature at this point" and would appear to be "without authorization of the bodies we represent" until they specifically sanction it.

The friction, simmering behind the scenes all day in closed committee sessions, came out in the open at a Tuesday night session of the Consultation on Church Union.

It involves 10 major denominations with a total of 25.5 million members.

After reaching agreement on modes of worship, a common ministry and doctrinal standards for a unified church in five previous years of work, the key issue here was whether to go on and draft an organization system.

A study commission recommended postponing it to allow further exploration.

However, William P. Thompson, of Philadelphia, chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church, urged that the task begin at once, including the blueprinting of a "provisional council" to serve during a transitional period into full union.

Attitudes pro and con were voiced in a series of reports from eight sectional groups that had huddled throughout the day.

A major concern indicated was that some of the denominations including the Methodist Church and the Episcopal Church have not specifically authorized their representatives to draw up a union plan, but only to explore the possibilities.

"I hope and pray that in time such authorization will be granted," Bishop Burrill said. But he added that to go ahead with the job now would seem precipitious and would "create and accentuate anxieties."

Measures to authorize drafting of a plan are scheduled to go before the Episcopal General Convention in Seattle, Wash., this fall, and before the Methodist General Conference in 1968.

Such action already has been taken by conventions of four denominations — the United Presbyterian Church, the United Church of Christ, and the Christian Churches (Disciples) and the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Even after the plan is drafted, it must be ratified by the denominational conventions — a process expected to take 4 to 13 years more.

California Capitol Left Agog

'Black Panthers' Armed March Stuns Legislature

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A stunned California Legislature surveyed its security precautions today while Negroes who burst into the Capitol bearing a variety of loaded guns at noontime Tuesday were summoned to court.

Twenty-six youths aged 17 to 25 were arrested by city police with drawn revolvers and hauled to the police station in a paddy wagon shortly after they left the Capitol agog Tuesday.

They were accused of possessing two illegal sawed-off shotguns, brandishing weapons in a threatening manner, disrupting the Legislature in session and carrying a fully loaded weapon in a car.

At the Capitol today, support mounted among amazed and disgruntled lawmakers for tightening security and imposing more severe penalties on those who disrupt an Assembly or Senate session.

It was a noon-hour session of the Assembly that a dozen of the armed youths — members of the "Black Panther Party" — succeeded in penetrating briefly before they were ushered out and several of the loaded rifles, pistols and shotguns taken away by two state policemen in a mild struggle.

No guns were fired at any time, and the armed men took care while in the Capitol not to overtly threaten anyone with the guns. They remained silent except for a spokesman, Bobby Seale, 25, of Oakland. He said they appeared to defend their constitutional right to bear arms, criticized "racist Oakland police" and opposed a bill outlawing the carrying of loaded weapons in public.

No one could remember anything like it happening before.

Reaction ranged from simple amazement to anger. A Democratic Negro assemblyman from the Watts district of Los Angeles, Bill Greene — considered a militant advocate of Negro rights — commented: "This action was not militant, it was senseless. No person black or white can condone this action."

Jim Rooney, one of three sergeants-at-arms manning the swinging gates that block off the Assembly chamber door 50 feet away, said that suddenly "a wave of them just rushed in and shoved us out of the way."

He was knocked into a chair by someone in the traveling mob of about 50 Black Panther members, reporters and television cameramen.

The man presiding when the armed men burst into the rear of the chamber, Speaker Pro Tem Carlos Bee, D-Hayward, remarked later: "the Legislature is certainly upset by the whole episode. People must be identified and have passes to come onto the floor. Any citizen can get a pass and there is no reason for anyone to push through in this manner."

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, author of the gun control bill the group protested, said he was "shocked beyond belief. It's a direct attempt to coerce me. This whole thing is an affront to the people."

When he testified for the bill Tuesday afternoon, Mulford referred to the "first time in California history an armed band forced their way through the gates and into the Assembly chamber."

He reminded assemblymen of the time in 1954 that Puerto Rican nationalists fired guns from the gallery into the House of Representatives chamber in Washington., D.C., wounding five congressmen.

The bill was taken under submission. Mulford said he would seek to include a provision to make it a felony to disrupt a legislative house in session.

Even Gov. Ronald Reagan was involved in the incident, and it caused some worried moments for his aides, who already afford him more protection than previous governors.

Reagan was scheduled to lunch on the west Capitol lawn with an eighth - grade social studies class from Pleasant Hill. When word of the armed men spread through the startled Capitol, Reagan was kept in his office. He finally left by a side door and appeared on the upper Capitol steps just as the Negroes were leaving from the lower steps. They did not seem to be aware of his presence.

Asked for his reaction, the governor commented that "Americans don't go around carrying guns with the idea they're using them to influence other Americans. There's no reason why on the street today a citizen should be carrying loaded weapons."

He agreed, however, with the group's contention they have the right to bear arms. At present there is no law in California against possessing a loaded, legal gun as long as it isn't concealed.

Because of the confusion and presence of the armed men, the picnic was moved into the governor's newly redecorated office and the youngsters sat on the carpet munching fried chicken.

Senate Refuses To Overturn Repeal

Happy Foes Of Campaign Fund Law Predict Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jubilant foes of the presidential campaign financing law today predicted final victory by week's end amid vows by their principal opponent to continue the six-week floor battle indefinitely.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., author of the election subsidy plan and its staunchest defender, suffered a stinging setback Tuesday when the Senate voted 52 to 46 against his bid to overturn Senate repeal of the law.

But Long showed no signs of giving up the fight, telling newsmen: "I don't know whether this is the half, or maybe the end of the first quarter."

The vote — fifth in a series that has stalled the Senate during the prolonged, often bitter debate — defeated a Long amendment that would have stripped from a pending tax bill the election subsidy repealer.

Long's amendment won backing from 46 Democrats. But all 35 Republicans present and 17 Democrats voted against it.

Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and John J. Williams, R-Del., principal backers of the repealer, said they're confident the Senate will pass the tax bill by the end of the week with the repeal rider on it.

"The Senate has had its fill of this and wants to get this bill out of the way," said Gore.

Williams said most senators were receiving strong complaints from the business community over the extended delay. The pending tax bill would restore major business incentives suspended last October as an anti-inflationary move.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who voted with Long Tuesday, said "I'm thinking it over" when asked by a reporter if he had any moves in mind to end the protracted debate.

Long said "we are going to continue to legislate and deliberate. I hope the Senate will have a return to reason and good sense as it has on two previous occasions in this debate."

Long won two of the previous four votes on the repeal issue.

"The stakes are enormously high in this fight. This plan will do more to clean up corruption than anything that has been done in the last century in American government," the Louisianian said.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who has consistently voted for repeal, told his colleagues "I don't see how anybody can support this legislation."

The controversial law, enacted last year and strongly supported by President Johnson, allows income tax payers to allot $1 to a special presidential election campaign fund. Both major parties would split the total fund — which could reach as much as $60 million in 1968.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A clash of viewpoints today confronted Protestant representatives over whether to press ahead with development of a plan for a united church — or to defer it temporarily.

"We can no longer pussyfoot in this matter," declared Methodist Bishop John Wesley Lord of Washington, D.C., urging immediate steps to proceed with the work.

However, Episcopal Bishop G. Francis Burrill of Chicago said such action would be "premature at this point" and would appear to be "without authorization of the bodies we represent" until they specifically sanction it.

The friction, simmering behind the scenes all day in closed committee sessions, came out in the open at a Tuesday night session of the Consultation on Church Union.

It involves 10 major denominations with a total of 25.5 million members.

After reaching agreement on modes of worship, a common ministry and doctrinal standards for a unified church in five previous years of work, the key issue here was whether to go on and draft an organization system.

A study commission recommended postponing it to allow further exploration.

However, William P. Thomson, of Philadelphia, chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church, urged that the task begin at once, including the blueprinting of a "provisional council" to serve during a transitional period into full union.

Attitudes pro and con were voiced in a series of reports from eight sectional groups that had huddled throughout the day.

A major concern indicated was that some of the denominations including the Methodist Church and the Episcopal Church have not specifically authorized their representatives to draw up a union plan, but only to explore the possibilities.

"I hope and pray that in time such authorization will be granted," Bishop Burrill said. But he added that to go ahead with the job now would seem precipitious and would "create and accentuate anxieties."

Measures to authorize drafting of a plan are scheduled to go before the Episcopal General Convention in Seattle, Wash., this fall, and before the Methodist General Conference in 1968.

Such action already has been taken by conventions of four denominations — the United Presbyterian Church, the United Church of Christ, and the Christian Churches (Disciples) and the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Even after the plan is drafted, it must be ratified by the denominational conventions — a process expected to take 4 to 13 years more.

'Black Panthers' Armed March Stuns Legislature

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A stunned California Legislature surveyed its security precautions today while Negroes who burst into the Capitol bearing a variety of loaded guns at noontime Tuesday were summoned to court.

Twenty-six youths aged 17 to 25 were arrested by city police with drawn revolvers and hauled to the police station in a paddy wagon shortly after they left the Capitol agog Tuesday.

They were accused of possessing two illegal sawed-off shotguns, brandishing weapons in a threatening manner, disrupting the Legislature in session and carrying a fully loaded weapon in a car.

At the Capitol today, support mounted among amazed and disgruntled lawmakers for tightening security and imposing more severe penalties on those who disrupt an Assembly or Senate session.

It was a noon-hour session of the Assembly that a dozen of the armed youths — members of the "Black Panther Party" — succeeded in penetrating briefly before they were ushered out and several of the loaded rifles, pistols and shotguns taken away by two state policemen in a mild struggle.

No guns were fired at any time, and the armed men took care while in the Capitol not to overtly threaten anyone with the guns. They remained silent except for a spokesman, Bobby Seale, 25, of Oakland. He said they appeared to defend their constitutional right to bear arms, criticized "racist Oakland police" and opposed a bill outlawing the carrying of loaded weapons in public.

No one could remember anything like it happening before.

Reaction ranged from simple amazement to anger. A Democratic Negro assemblyman from the Watts district of Los Angeles, Bill Greene — considered a militant advocate of Negro rights — commented: "This action was not militant, it was senseless. No person black or white can condone this action."

Jim Rooney, one of three sergeants-at-arms manning the swinging gates that block off the Assembly chamber door 50 feet away, said that suddenly "a wave of them just rushed in and shoved us out of the way."

He was knocked into a chair by someone in the traveling mob of about 50 Black Panther members, reporters and television cameramen.

The man presiding when the armed men burst into the rear of the chamber, Speaker Pro Tem Carlos Bee, D-Hayward, remarked later: "the Legislature is certainly upset by the whole episode. People must be identified and have passes to come onto the floor. Any citizen can get a pass and there is no reason for anyone to push through in this manner."

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, author of the gun control bill the group protested, said he was "shocked beyond belief. It's a direct attempt to coerce me. This whole thing is an affront to the people."

When he testified for the bill Tuesday afternoon, Mulford referred to the "first time in California history an armed band forced their way through the gates and into the Assembly chamber."

He reminded assemblymen of the time in 1954 that Puerto Rican nationalists fired guns from the gallery into the House of Representatives chamber in Washington., D.C., wounding five congressmen.

The bill was taken under submission. Mulford said he would seek to include a provision to make it a felony to disrupt a legislative house in session.

Even Gov. Ronald Reagan was involved in the incident, and it caused some worried moments for his aides, who already afford him more protection than previous governors.

Reagan was scheduled to lunch on the west Capitol lawn with an eighth - grade social studies class from Pleasant Hill. When word of the armed men spread through the startled Capitol, Reagan was kept in his office. He finally left by a side door and appeared on the upper Capitol steps just as the Negroes were leaving from the lower steps. They did not seem to be aware of his presence.

Asked for his reaction, the governor commented that "Americans don't go around carrying guns with the idea they're using them to influence other Americans. There's no reason why on the street today a citizen should be carrying loaded weapons."

He agreed, however, with the group's contention they have the right to bear arms. At present there is no law in California against possessing a loaded, legal gun as long as it isn't concealed.

Because of the confusion and presence of the armed men, the picnic was moved into the governor's newly redecorated office and the youngsters sat on the carpet munching fried chicken.

Senate Refuses To Overturn Repeal

Happy Foes Of Campaign Fund Law Predict Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jubilant foes of the presidential campaign financing law today predicted final victory by week's end amid vows by their principal opponent to continue the six-week floor battle indefinitely.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., author of the election subsidy plan and its staunchest defender, suffered a stinging setback Tuesday when the Senate voted 52 to 46 against his bid to overturn Senate repeal of the law.

But Long showed no signs of giving up the fight, telling newsmen: "I don't know whether this is the half, or maybe the end of the first quarter."

The vote — fifth in a series that has stalled the Senate during the prolonged, often bitter debate — defeated a Long amendment that would have stripped from a pending tax bill the election subsidy repealer.

Long's amendment won backing from 46 Democrats. But all 35 Republicans present and 17 Democrats voted against it.

Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and John J. Williams, R-Del., principal backers of the repealer, said they're confident the Senate will pass the tax bill by the end of the week with the repeal rider on it.

"The Senate has had its fill of this and wants to get this bill out of the way," said Gore.

Williams said most senators were receiving strong complaints from the business community over the extended delay. The pending tax bill would restore major business incentives suspended last October as an anti-inflationary move.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who voted with Long Tuesday, said "I'm thinking it over" when asked by a reporter if he had any moves in mind to end the protracted debate.

Long said "we are going to continue to legislate and deliberate. I hope the Senate will have a return to reason and good sense as it has on two previous occasions in this debate."

Long won two of the previous four votes on the repeal issue.

"The stakes are enormously high in this fight. This bill will do more to clean up corruption than anything that has been done in the last century in American government," the Louisianian said.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who has consistently voted for repeal, told his colleagues "I don't see how anybody can support this legislation."

The controversial law, enacted last year and strongly supported by President Johnson, allows income tax payers to allot $1 to a special presidential election campaign fund. Both major parties would split the total fund — which could reach as much as $60 million in 1968.

State Department Trims Its Employment Ceilings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department's top administrative officer has ordered a two per cent cut in the department's employment ceilings here and around the world, it was learned today.

The order abolishes an estimated 273 jobs and apparently is aimed both at economy and at curbing what critics contend is overstaffing in the big foreign affairs agency.

Idar Rimestad, the new deputy undersecretary for administration who issued the order, described it as a "modest beginning" to try to turn around the gradual growth of the State Department's payroll.

"This is the first step to come to grips with the size of the department," Rimestad told a newsman through an aide.

"There is a general feeling that we can do with fewer personnel and what we want to do is to get the number of our people in line with available funds," he said. "It will have no impact on foreign affairs operations. They could even improve."

Rimestad, who took over the department's top administrative post in February, was previously in a similar position at the U. S. embassy in Paris when 50 jobs were eliminated there. He is known to believe this did not impair the embassy's effectiveness. Some veteran U. S. diplomats long have contended that American foreign policy could be better carried out with a smaller bureaucracy.

Rimestad's directive does not apply to the U. S. diplomatic staff dealing with Southeast Asia, where the Vietnam war rates Washington's top priority.

It also does not call for the firing of persons now on the payroll. The cutback is to be achieved by not hiring people to fill vacancies as they occur.

But "in general the reductions should be applied to officer positions" — meaning those held by career diplomats — the directive says.

This adds to recent pressure on many older U. S. diplomats to retire. The department also is planning to shorten the time limits within which foreign service officers must be promoted or face discharge.

There are about 3,600 career diplomats, of whom some 400 in the higher ranks will face "selection out" in the next five years under that procedure, officials said.

The State Department's global employment total now is about 25,000. This includes 15,000 career U. S. foreign service officers, clerical and Civil Service personnel and persons paid for by other U. S. agencies, plus 10,000 foreigners employed abroad.

Rimestad's directive, dated March 21 and addressed to all of the Department's assistant secretaries and office chiefs, applies to those persons paid directly from State Department appropriations.

The council church committee, headed by M. V. Redpath of Columbiana, will supervise the project.

Sunday services will be held at 8:30 a. m. beginning May 14, with area pastors filling the pulpit.

Twenty-three ministers participated in the program last summer. The church is nondenominational.

Two Men Are Killed In Helicopter Crash

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Two men were killed Tuesday when a helicopter crashed on a runway at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base near Tucson.

Killed were the pilot, Maj. Thomas E. Decatur, 35, of Middletown, Ohio, and his passenger, T. Sgt. Bobby R. Fritz, 36, Hopkinsville, Ky.

Both were assigned to the 303rd Combat Support Group at Davis-Monthan.

The helicopter, an Air Force UH1F Huey, is used to transport men and equipment between the air base and the 18 Titan II missile sites ringing Tucson.

What Quality Beef Does A&P Sell?

we care A&P

That's a fair question. But not an easy one to answer because we have our own quality standards, different from any other meat merchant.

These standards don't fit exactly the familiar terms you know for grades of meat. As an example, did you know that some beef, graded U.S. Choice, just doesn't meet our "Super-Right" specifications? It's true! You see... we don't buy by grade. We use our own high standards to bring you the best values.

That doesn't mean we don't approve of such grading—not at all. It just means we're very fussy about the beef we label "Super-Right." It stands to reason we have to be or A&P wouldn't be America's number one meat merchant.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My letter is a complete Do-It-Yourself Problem Solving Kit which would put you out of business overnight, so of course it will land in the wastebasket. I am going to mail it anyhow.

All problems can be divided into three categories:

1. Problems that must be talked over with a psychiatrist, a clergyman, a doctor, an astrologer, your hairdresser or barber, the laundress, a tea-leaf reader, a plumber or a tool and die maker.

2. Problems that call for action. You must marry it, divorce it, wash it, bury it, sell it or housebreak it.

3. The problem for which there is no solution, so you must forget it.

Classic examples of this last type are: Domineering mother-in-law, loud-mouthed sister-in-law, father-in-law who thinks he is Jack Benny, a husband who snores.

If your readers knew these facts they would not need you ever again. But please don't stop writing, Annie, your column is my laugh for the day. — ILLINOIS.

Dear Ill.: Thanks for writing. Your letter was mine.

Off To Grandma's

Dear Ann: Three years ago Dad died leaving my mother, my three brothers and me. I was so broken up over Dad's death that I went to live with my grandparents for a year just to get away from the house that held so many memories. I was 14 at the time.

When I returned home I discovered my mother had fallen for a bum and was spending every possible minute with him. My brothers and I hate this man and Mom knows it. When he got hauled off to jail six months ago, Mom said he never would enter our home again.

Three months ago he came back and now is living with us. Mom says we have to respect him because he is her choice. How can children respect a guy who has a record for burglary and is living with a woman he is not married to?

It is sad when a teen-age girl has to write such a letter about her mother, and I'm sorry, but I need your advice. Should I go live with my grandparents and have some peace of mind? — TIRED.

Dear Tired: Yes, go live with your grandparents. If there is any chance that they can take your brothers, too, I recommend that they go also, provided they feel as you do about this shameful mess.

Keeper Of The Broom

Dear Ann: I was amused by the letter from the woman who had two daughters-in-law — one a neat housekeeper (like herself) and the other a sloppy housekeeper.

My mother used to say she always could tell who was boss by the looks of the house. According to Mom, when the wife is boss, the house is neat and orderly. When the man is boss, the house is messy and disorganized.

I believe this is true. Do you? — REGULAR READER.

Dear Reg: No. The man can be boss, but if his wife is a slob the place will look like it, since it is up to her to do the housekeeping.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Attitude Makes The Difference

At a banquet when we were served Boston Cream Pie, a friend turned to me and asked ruefully, "Do you mean I'm to look at this delicious dessert and tell myself I'd be happier if I didn't eat it?"

Ida Jean Kain

No, for such a bluff wouldn't work. That dessert would taste delightful, as well as you know. The strategy is to decide what you really want, and not settle for lesser desires. The choice is yours. Instead of reasoning that one dessert more or less makes no real difference, ask yourself if this course helps you to get on with what you are trying to accomplish.

THIS PROMISE from a triumphant dieter who reduced from 218 pounds to 141 pounds carries conviction. "When you look at a tempting fattener, say to yourself, 'In a few minutes it will be gone and the taste will be gone. . .but the weight will be with me.' Ask yourself frankly, 'Which would I rather have. . .a second helping, a rich dessert, a chocolate bar, or whatever it is. . .or to look and feel younger than springtime' To recognize that the choice is yours is somehow freeing. Tell your reducers this works . . . it really works."

Examine your attitude. . .for attitude is all important. When you regard fattening fare from an objective viewpoint, this gives you perspective. Suddenly your craving diminishes perceptibly.

It will help you to give prior thought to the plan. One of the ways individuals show strength of will is in a willingness to make advance decisions.

First, reason through a situation and mentally face a problem. In your mind's eye, picture yourself acting in a definite way, perhaps saying "No, thank you." Having so decided, you carry this mind - set with you. If you are wholehearted in your approach to the plan, a firm mind - set works with wondrous potency.

THOREAU, that wise philosopher, pointed out that the way to achieve is to form a mental picture of youself as achieving. The secret is to always think in terms of how you want something to come out.

The power of a winning attitude approximates magic. Nothing is a hardship when it helps you to accomplish your goal. This is the essence of a built-in slimming plan.

QUESTION - - "We plan to spend the rest of the year in Florida. What should we do if either of us passed away while there?"

ANSWER - - If the unexpected should suddenly happen, an immediate phone call to us would immediately relieve you of the responsibility of personally arranging details with an unknown funeral director there and would result in considerable financial savings to you.

It will help you to give prior thought to the plan. One of the ways individuals show strength of will is in a willingness to make advance decisions.

First, reason through a situation and mentally face a poblem. In your mind's eye, picture yourself acting in a definite way, perhaps saying "No, thank you." Having so decided, you carry this mind - set with you. If you are wholehearted in your approach to the plan, a firm mind - set works with wondrous potency.

THOREAU, that wise philosopher, pointed out that the way to achieve is to form a mental picture of youself as achieving. The secret is to always think in terms of how you want something to come out.

The power of a winning attitude approximates magic. Nothing is a hardship when it helps you to accomplish your goal. This is the essence of a built-in slimming plan.

QUESTION - - "We plan to spend the rest of the year in Florida. What should we do if either of us passed away while there?"

ANSWER - - If the unexpected should suddenly happen, an immediate phone call to us would immediately relieve you of the responsibility of personally arranging details with an unknown funeral director there and would result in considerable financial savings to you.

Dear Folks: While we're having that cup of coffee today, I'm going to tell you how to save a few more pennies, as well as some energy and time.

Everyone knows how hard it is to use all of a bottle of ketchup, chili sauce, cocktail sauce, or cream dressings. The main problem is that you can't scrape into those narrow-necked bottles and get all of the good goo out.

So try this:

When you get down near the bottom of the bottle and have a little bit left in it, shake the bottle real hard and turn it upside down, being sure the cap is in tight.

If you have a bottle that won't stand on the cap (I found one cocktail sauce that wouldn't), put it in a jar or jelly glass to keep it from falling and leave it overnight. In the morning, all the remaining goody part will have settled in the neck of the bottle. Then all you have to do is turn the bottle sideways, unscrew the cap quickly and the stuff that has accumulated near the bottle cap will pour out easily.

This will leave you with a clean bottle and you get to use all of that wonderful sauce.

If the bottle has a wide neck, such as chili sauce, put the almost empty bottle upside down on the new bottle and in no time at all it'll be drained clean.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: My job involves a lot of traveling and attending conventions and conferences.

By making a daily clothes schedule of activities, I find it helps me arrive with proper clothing for each day's events.

I call this my "clothes menu" and I keep it pinned to the inside top of my suitcase. Each morning I just glance at it to see what I'm to wear.

It saves time in packing, avoids overpacking or underpacking and speeds my dressing.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE: The best way to ease your fears, tears and troubles is to interest yourself in others.

How true, how true!

If we would all take the time to glance around, we would probably see someone else a lot worse off than we are.

All of God's children have troubles.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: My big problem until recently was my ironing board.

The legs of the ironing board always spread apart whenever I put it in my hallway closet, which made opening that closet dangerous. The ironing board poked our eyes, bumped our heads and even fell on us at times.

After many bruises, I solved this problem by putting a belt around one leg and the narrow part of the ironing board. Then I tightened up on my belt.

Now when we open the hall closet we don't have to wrestle that old ironing board every time.

A FRIEND.

DEAR HELOISE: If at the end of a day your glassy eyes and pained expression are telling the world that your feet are killing you, just lather up and find relief.

Snitch some of your husband's mentholated shaving cream and use it as soap to wash your feet. It sure is cooling and refreshing to your tired dogs.

If you can spare another five or ten minutes, lie down and put your feet up, propped against the wall or chair.

Oh, my, what a glorious feeling!

FAY LAMPHIEAR.

DEAR HELOISE: I never use a spoon to fish out bits of egg yolk in egg white. I use the egg shell itself, for the yellow adheres to it beautifully.

It works so much better . . try it!

MRS. JOYCE RIRIE.

DEAR HELOISE: For youngsters who play tennis:

An easy way to make a ball bag is to put a drawstring in a mesh onion bag.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Private Life Of Mr. Paar

Is Jack Paar thinking of returning to the weekly or nightly television fray? "Absolutely not!" he says. "I'd rather go fight in Vietnam than go back to the 'Tonight' show. It really hurt to read in a New York column that my appearance on Joey Bishop's show last week looked as if I were auditioning for my own show.

Hal Humphrey

"I was simply doing a friend a favor, although I tried to tell Joey we'd both be dead that night, because of its being the night Johnny Carson returned. Joey couldn't get over Buddy Hackett's appearing with Carson. They are supposed to be such close friends, you know.

-:-

"JOEY GREW UP with Buddy. They went to the same temple and drank the milk and ate the bread there together, or whatever they do. And here I was, a Christian, trying to help Joey out," adds the still-volatile Paar.

It was just coincidence that Paar was in Hollywood. He'd arrived the day before Joey's frantic SOS to narrate and host a film special being produced by David Wolper Productions for airing on NBC May 14.

By coincidence, too, the special is titled "Jack Paar and a Funny Thing Happened on the Way to Hollywood."

"I really wasn't too happy with this one," Paar reports. "Wolper's just a businessman, but I like Jack Haley Jr. who's actually producing it, and I think we've fixed it up. I do a very funny thing on Gov. Reagan, using film clips from his old movies. I hope they leave it in."

THIS IS PAAR'S third special on TV since taking his stool and leaving the weekly NBC Jack Paar Program in June 1965. The other two were "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the White House" and "The Kennedy Wit."

Paar's popping up on Bishop's new and rocky late-night frolic caused fans and enemies to wonder how he was managing to survive without the warming rays of TV's limelight. Obviously they've worried more about it than he has.

"I still live in Bronxville, New York, and I paint and read a lot and work with my video tape machine. Every TV set in our house is rigged up to this machine, and I did it all myself," Paar announced proudly.

"PEOPLE ASK ME how I like Carson on the 'Tonight' show. I haven't seen him in a year and a half. I get up at 6 in the morning to paint or edit tapes. At noon Miriam, my wife, and I have some soup and a bottle of wine, then I take a two-hour walk.

"We eat dinner at 5:30 and I'm undressed and in bed by 7. For me, Huntley-Brinkley is the late show. I watch them from bed."

For an average of five days a month, Paar is in Maine where he has major ownership of WMTW, a TV and FM radio station. The TV station is an ABC affiliate, so when the Joey Bishop Show started, Paar, to the consternation of his sales manager, canceled the late-night movies to accommodate pal Joey.

PAAR SOON discovered he isn't the dedicated business tycoon type. His sense of humor and interests in the world at large prevent his becoming too immersed in the world of commerce.

"I remember one staff meeting at which the program director was complaining that a competitor was beating our morning Porky Pig kid show with Popeye the sailor. 'Then we'll buy Popeye!' I shouted, and the minute I did that I said to myself, 'C'mon, pal, this is no place for you,' " recalls Paar, laughing over it now.

When accused of living a semi-retired life, Parr is surprised. He insists there aren't enough hours in the day for him to do all the things he wants.

HE IS the devoted family man still. Daughter Randy is 18 and in college ("I was just a 10th grader myself," Paar reminds everyone) and plans to work in Sen. Robert Kennedy's Washington office this summer.

"She's so excited," says Paar, "and it's wonderful. Also a little funny, because I come from a Republican family, but we love the Kennedys. The Nixon girls are great friends of Randy's, though, and I don't know if she's told them about Kennedy yet."

Milk Drivers Strike Ends In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Settlement of a combination strike-lockout by drivers and dairy operators that halted milk deliveries in the Chicago area was announced today.

The agreement to end the milk crisis was reached at 2 a.m. after six hours of negotiations in the office of Mayor Richard Daley who had summoned union and dairy representatives in an urgent attempt to settle the dispute.

Spokesmen for each side said milk deliveries would be resumed today to homes and stores.

The new one-year agreement provides for a $5-a-week across-the-board increase in wages and a $1 increase for pension, health and welfare benefits. Other issues, including dairy operators proposals to reduce the work week from six to five days and home deliveries from three to two days a week remain to be worked out.

Spoksmen said any issues unrsolved in continuing negotiations would be submitted to arbitration.

Companies say retail drivers now average about $200 a week including commissions, and wholesale drivers can make up to $300 a week.

Morgan Murphy Jr., general counsel for the Chicago Area Dairymens Association, representing about 30 dairies involved in the dispute, said the settlement was satisfactory to the association's members. Some 30 other dairies involved are represented by the Associated Milk Dealers. They, too expressed satisfaction with the agreement.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I remove varnish from furniture?

A. — With equal quantities of ammonia and water.

Q. — What is a good way to clean or wash clear - plastic water glasses?

A. — Wash them in cream of tartar dissolved in hot water. Soak for a few minutes, then rinse and dry.

Q.—How can I redeem lemons that have hardened from long standing?

A. — By covering them with boiling water and letting them stand for just a few minutes.

Q.—How can I remove stubborn stains from my kitchen sink or bathtub?

A.—Try rubbing over these stains with table salt dampened with turpentine or mineral spirits, then rinsing with clear water.

Q.—How can I clean discolored enamelware?

A.—You can often do a fine job of this by rubbing with a paste of salt and vinegar.

Q. — How can I relieve tired and aching feet?

A. — Boric acid in the foot bath will not only relieve tired, perspiring feet, but will also remove any unpleasant odor.

School Districts Get More Funds Under 'Title 1'

East Liverpool and Beaver Local School Districts have received additional federal Title I funds.

Supt. Roy Cashdollar said Beaver Local obtained an additional $1,973, with the money scheduled for the summer kindergarten program.

East Liverpool received an additional $3,055, according to Supt. Paul Blair. It will be used to expand the summer program.

The funds came from a centralized Title I resources not utilized by some districts and distributed to districts which had applied for them.

Cashdollar said he will seek approval on use of the money for additional kindergarten classes. There have been 106 youngsters enrolled for five teachers and he said he hopes to hire two more teachers and a physical education instructor to provide for two more classes.

This is the second allocation to East Liverpool, Blair said, pointing out $9,300 was received in a redistribution about six weeks ago.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Private Life Of Mr. Paar

Is Jack Paar thinking of returning to the weekly or nightly television fray? "Absolutely not!" he says. "I'd rather go fight in Vietnam than go back to the 'Tonight' show. It really hurt to read in a New York column that my appearance on Joey Bishop's show last week looked as if I were auditioning for my own show.

Hal Humphrey

"I was simply doing a friend a favor, although I tried to tell Joey we'd both be dead that night, because of its being the night Johnny Carson returned. Joey couldn't get over Buddy Hackett's appearing with Carson. They are supposed to be such close friends, you know.

-:-

"JOEY GREW UP with Buddy. They went to the same temple and drank the milk and ate the bread there together, or whatever they do. And here I was, a Christian, trying to help Joey out," adds the still-volatile Paar.

It was just coincidence that Paar was in Hollywood. He'd arrived the day before Joey's frantic SOS to narrate and host a film special being produced by David Wolper Productions for airing on NBC May 14.

By coincidence, too, the special is titled "Jack Paar and a Funny Thing Happened on the Way to Hollywood."

"I really wasn't too happy with this one," Paar reports. "Wolper's just a businessman, but I like Jack Haley Jr. who's actually producing it, and I think we've fixed it up. I do a very funny thing on Gov. Reagan, using film clips from his old movies. I hope they leave it in."

-:-

THIS IS PAAR'S third special on TV since taking his stool and leaving the weekly NBC Jack Paar Program in June 1965. The other two were "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the White House" and "The Kennedy Wit."

Paar's popping up on Bishop's new and rocky late-night frolic caused fans and enemies to wonder how he was managing to survive without the warming rays of TV's limelight. Obviously they've worried more about it than he has.

"I still live in Bronxville, New York, and I paint and read a lot and work with my video tape machine. Every TV set in our house is rigged up to this machine, and I did it all myself," Paar announced proudly.

"PEOPLE ASK ME how I like Carson on the 'Tonight' show. I haven't seen him in a year and a half. I get up at 6 in the morning to paint or edit tapes. At noon Miriam, my wife, and I have some soup and a bottle of wine, then I take a two-hour walk.

"We eat dinner at 5:30 and I'm undressed and in bed by 7. For me, Huntley-Brinkley is the late show. I watch them from bed."

For an average of five days a month, Paar is in Maine where he has major ownership of WMTW, a TV and FM radio station. The TV station is an ABC affiliate, so when the Joey Bishop Show started, Paar, to the consternation of his sales manager, canceled the late-night movies to accommodate pal Joey.

PAAR SOON discovered he isn't the dedicated business tycoon type. His sense of humor and interests in the world at large prevent his becoming too immersed in the world of commerce.

"I remember one staff meeting at which the program director was complaining that a competitor was beating our morning Porky Pig kid show with Popeye the sailor. 'Then we'll buy Popeye!' I shouted, and the minute I did that I said to myself, 'C'mon, pal, this is no place for you,' " recalls Paar, laughing over it now.

When accused of living a semi-retired life, Parr is surprised. He insists there aren't enough hours in the day for him to do all the things he wants.

HE IS the devoted family man still. Daughter Randy is 18 and in college ("I was just a 10th grader myself," Paar reminds everyone) and plans to work in Sen. Robert Kennedy's Washington office this summer.

"She's so excited," says Paar, "and it's wonderful. Also a little funny, because I come from a Republican family, but we love the Kennedys. The Nixon girls are great friends of Randy's, though, and I don't know if she's told them about Kennedy yet."

Milk Drivers Strike Ends In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Settlement of a combination strike-lockout by drivers and dairy operators that halted milk deliveries in the Chicago area was announced today.

The agreement to end the milk crisis was reached at 2 a.m. after six hours of negotiations in the office of Mayor Richard Daley who had summoned union and dairy representatives in an urgent attempt to settle the dispute.

Spokesmen for each side said milk deliveries would be resumed today to homes and stores.

The new one-year agreement provides for a $5-a-week across-the-board increase in wages and a $1 increase for pension, health and welfare benefits. Other issues, including dairy operators proposals to reduce the work week from six to five days and home deliveries from three to two days a week remain to be worked out.

Spoksmen said any issues unrsolved in continuing negotiations would be submitted to arbitration.

Companies say retail drivers now average about $200 a week including commissions, and wholesale drivers can make up to $300 a week.

Morgan Murphy Jr., general counsel for the Chicago Area Dairymens Association, representing about 30 dairies involved in the dispute, said the settlement was satisfactory to the association's members. Some 30 other dairies involved are represented by the Associated Milk Dealers. They, too expressed satisfaction with the agreement.

School Districts Get More Funds Under 'Title I'

East Liverpool and Beaver Local School Districts have received additional federal Title I funds.

Supt. Roy Cashdollar said Beaver Local obtained an additional $1,973, with the money scheduled for the summer kindergarten program.

East Liverpool received an additional $3,055, according to Supt. Paul Blair. It will be used to expand the summer program.

The funds came from a centralized Title I resources not utilized by some districts and distributed to districts which had applied for them.

Cashdollar said he will seek approval on use of the money for additional kindergarten classes. There have been 106 youngsters enrolled for five teachers and he said he hopes to hire two more teachers and a physical education instructor to provide for two more classes.

This is the second allocation to East Liverpool, Blair said, pointing out $9,300 was received in a redistribution about six weeks ago.

Junior Editors Quiz on CATS

QUESTION: Why and how does a cat purr?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Taking the why first, the cat in our picture is answering: "Because I'm happy and contented." But we may still ask: why purr about it? Purring is one of the many signals animals give about their feelings. These signals are useful. Purring says: "I'm well fed and happy; go on caring for me this way and I'll stay contented. You can tell it by my purring and when I rub against your legs and lift up my tail with a little crook at the top." A cat can give a very different signal, too— as when a dog starts after her. Then, her hiss and arched back clearly mean, watch out! The cat's purr signals are caused by the chords animals have in their throats which vibrate by air passing over them to create sound. If a cat yowls, the chords are tightened up. When a cat is feeling happy, its chords are loose and relaxed, and the passing air vibrates them to make a soft, contented sound. Even large cats, such as lions, can purr. The lion's vocal chords are large, so he can roar and frighten his prey. His purr is more like a deep growl.

Park Favored To Win Today In Korea Vote

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Eighty per cent of South Korea's 13.9 million registered voters were expected to vote today in the presidential election, and President Chung Hee Park was favored to win a second term.

U.S. and South Korean troops along the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea sharpened their vigilance against Communist disturbances along the border. After the election campaign began a month ago, the Communists stepped up their attacks along the 151-mile truce border.

President Park, who heads the Democratic Republican party, and his chief opponent, former President Yun Po-sun, were among the early voters in Seoul, the capital. The 49-year-old president exchanged smiles with district election committee officials and scores of voters and newsmen.

Park made no political remarks at the poll but Yun, 69, leader of the Shinmin (New Democratic) party, said he hoped the election would be fair.

Absentee ballots from 45,000 troops and civilians stationed in South Vietnam arrived before the polls opened.

The Home Ministry said that four hours after the polling began under fair skies, 38.7 per cent of the voters had recorded their choice. The outcome was expected to be known by noon Thursday — 11 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

Political forecasters predicted Park would be returned for another four-year term by 500,000 votes.

Seoul was calm duing early voting. National police guarded each polling place.

The election campaign was described as the most peaceful since Korea gained its independence from Japan 22 years ago.

President Park campaigned on a promise to carry on economic programs he launched under a second five-year program this year. He told the voters South Korea is enjoying political and economic stability such as never before.

Yun accused the government of corruption and promised cleaner government. He also proposed early withdrawal of South Korean troops from Vietnam.

Park has headed the Korean government since 1961 when he came to power in a military coup that put Yun out of the presidency. In the 1963 election Park defeated Yun by a slim margin of 150,000 votes.

Italian Chef Makes Record-Size Salami

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Corrado Viola had one burning ambition — to make the world's biggest salami.

And when he turned out a monster sausage five feet long and weighing nearly 100 pounds, he thought he'd probably succeeded.

Viola, 37, a chef in an Italian restaurant in Johannesburg, spent two days making his salami. He had to use a plastic skin because he couldn't find an orthodox casing big enough.

Maitre d'hotel Piero said: "Only in Bologne in Italy do they make such big salamis. And if ours is not the biggest one ever made, it is so close to it that it doesn't matter."

Thieves who broke into the restaurant were apparently daunted by its size. They left Viola's masterpiece alone and stole a smaller, 20-pound version.
